HAMPTON, Va., Sept. 25.—Elizabeth "Betty" Dahl, "the other woman" in the case of Professor Elasha Kent Kane, charged with deliberately drowning his wife, has not yet admitted the authorities—so far.

They admitted it today.

Deputy Sheriff Tom Curtis, who has the reputation of always getting his man, went to New York to talk to "Betty."

He was back in town today—empty handed.

Gives Up Chase

The beautiful divorcee, who wrote romantic letters to the eccentric professor, played hide and seek with the deputy sheriff from Virginia.

He almost caught up with her trial but after five days in the metropolis including a trip to Philadelphia, where the parents of Betty reside, Curtis gave up the chase.

"But I found out a lot about her background," said Curtis.

He confirmed the fact that she had worked as a stewardess for many years on the liners Leviathan and America and that her acquaintances included many wealthy and influential men. These facts were revealed by International News Service almost a week ago.

The deputy sheriff, in addition to this historical background, brought back a picture of the woman which was published in a New York newspaper.

"I wish I knew how they got that picture," he said wistfully.

Legion Leaders To Try
To Keep Organization
Out Of Political Arena

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 25.—The American Legion's attack on the eighteenth amendment, with a suggestion for a prohibition referendum by the states, provoked a drive among its leaders to keep the soldier organization of 1,100,000 veterans out of the national political arena.

The new Legion administration, headed by the youthful Henry L. Stevens, of North Carolina, will take no action whatever on the wet and dry issue, it was learned, until after a meeting of its executive committee in Indianapolis in November. Then, it may be decided that the Legion has merely expressed an "opinion" about the dry law without requiring political activity to secure adoption of its recommendation.

Stevens, a staunch dry from North Carolina, told International News Service he would take no steps toward securing a referendum unless the executive committee—representing every Legion department in the Union—ordered action at the November session.

"The Man with the Hoe is making his last stand as an American farmer. In his stead we hail the Man with the Hoe."

That was the fitting close to an encouraging address "Agriculture's Tomorrow" by Wheeler McMillen, associate editor of "The Country Home" presented in Westfield Grange last night as the climax to the third annual farm tour of the Lawrence County Banker's Association through six exemplary agricultural show places in North Beaver township during the afternoon to give the bankers first hand knowledge of conditions in the county's farmland.

Get New Prospective

The speaker declared in his evening address that events of the last 24 months have compelled most of us to view the world with a new perspective. Better than almost any other major industry in the United States, the speaker said, agriculture has weathered this era of disturbance. He added that a very considerable number of America's industrial and financial leaders today might profit from a study of the PIATTBURGH, Sept. 25.—The grand jury today plunged deeper into the investigation of alleged primary election irregularities in Allegheny county with the issuance of warrants for the arrest of almost 200 persons suspected of being "phantom voters."

Twenty of the warrants were issued this morning at the request of District Attorney Andrew T. Park following the confession of Frank Johnson, 25, of Homestead, who admitted in court that he had "voted four or five times" in Homestead.

Johnson was ordered to appear before the grand jury after he un-

AKRON, O., Sept. 25.—The U. S. Akron, world's largest airship, was back in her vast hangar today following her second successful trial flight.

The "Queen of the Air" was docked shortly before midnight after she had cruised for three hours and 50 minutes in her first night venture into the air.

If weather conditions are again favorable, the Akron will soar aloft in a third test voyage today, it was announced.

Last night's flight was made to determine the workability of the navy dirigible's elevator apparatus and rudder controls. Aboard the 785-foot air monster were 109 passengers.

Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl was again at the helm as commander of the huge airship. Not a single mishap has thus far marred the two test flights of the Akron.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Dissolution of parliament will be announced next Wednesday and a general election will follow immediately, the London Evening Standard declared today.

Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, the newspaper said, will lead the national coalition in the election, to be fought out on the tariff issue.

In the face of these positive statements, however, conservative party headquarters informed International News Service that they were "merely conjecture."

"Dissolution of Parliament next Wednesday is a possibility, not a probability," a conservative spokesman said.

DETROIT, Sept. 25.—Delegates to the thirteenth annual convention of the American Legion were homeward bound today with reverberations of the last day's stormy "beer and bonus" session still ringing in their ears.

For the first time in its history the huge veterans organization had taken an official stand on prohibition by adopting a resolution favoring a popular referendum on repeal or modification of the Eighteenth Amendment.

During yesterday's meeting—the most important session of the convention—the delegates also recorded their view on the second vital issue confronting them, the bonus. By a vote of 902 to 507 they rejected a resolution demanding immediate cash payment of the bonus.

Disagreement on the prohibition question was far less marked than the split on the issue of the bonus. The dry law referendum resolution was adopted by the overwhelming vote of 1608 to 394 following a heated debate amid scenes of wild enthusiasm.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 25.—Dr. William Gordon, secretary of banking of Pennsylvania, last night issued the following statement from his office.

During the past week it has come to my attention that the circulation of unounded rumors with regard to the soundness of certain banks and trust companies in Pittsburgh and its vicinity has resulted in the abnormal withdrawal of deposits.

As secretary of banking I wish to call the attention of the public to the fact the Assembly approved April 23, 1909, as amended by the act of May 26, 1931, which makes it a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $5,000, and by imprisonment at hard labor for five years for any person to make untrue, publish written or oral statement or rumor in reference to the soundness or derogatory to the financial condition of any bank, banking company, trust company or other financial institution in this commonwealth or association who shall counsel, aid, procure or induce another to originate, make, utter, publish, write, transmit or circulate to another or others any statement or rumor.

Other Officers

The other officers elected are Mrs. Vice President, T. F. Mahon; Scranton; Second Vice President, John Delaney, Pittsburgh; Third Vice President, Chester Rumberg, Beaver Falls; Secretary, George B. Neuberger; Treasurer, Perry Runyan; Clerk, Quentin; and Sergeant-at-Arms, Fred James, Johnstown. Several cities bid for the 1932 convention but the executive committee will decide that within the next year.

Mr. Brown has been Sealer of Weights and Measures for Lawrence county for many years and in that time has earned the approbation of the Bureau of Standards of Pennsylvania for his excellent work. In the organization of inspectors, he has been active and his election to the presidency of the organization is a gesture of appreciation upon the part of the other members throughout the state.

The falsity of the statement of rumor shall be prima facie evidence of intent to violate the provisions of this act.

Neither the source of the information or rumor nor the lack of intent to injure the institution concerning which the statement of rumor is made shall be a defense.

The law will be enforced to the utmost of my power and I shall rigorously prosecute any and all persons violating this act.

A lack of faith in the soundness of our financial institutions as manifested by the unwarranted withdrawal of deposits will result in irreparable injury to both to the institutions and to the depositors.

Rocks At Investigators
Today

(International News Service)

ATHENS, O., Sept. 25.—Angry coal mine strikers, defying efforts of adjutant general Frank D. Henderson to restore order, hurled rocks today at two special investigators sent here from the State Capital at the order of Governor George White.

The rocks were thrown at Col. John S. Shieley and Capt. L. G. Windom of the Ohio National Guard who were en route to No. 6 mine of the Sunday Creek Coal Co. in the scene of the disturbance, but missed their mark.

Rocks also were thrown at Peter McKinley, general superintendent of the mine, by pickets, and one hit him in the right shoulder, but he was not seriously hurt. The stone shattered the rear window of his automobile.

The strike is the outgrowth of a dispute between mine operators and miners over the employment of check weighmen.

Meanwhile, Professor Kane, out under $15,000 bail on a murder charge, was believed possibly today to be in conference "somewhere up North" with the elusive Betty. He and his lawyer—cousin E. The prosecutor and Sheriff Charles Curtis, brother of Tom were closeted in a secret conference today with a newly discovered witness. It was expected the witness would be among those called at the formal arraignment of the University of Tennessee professor next Wednesday.

Eighty other warrants were issued on information supplied by members of the registration commission against alleged "phantoms."

Still about 100 other informations today were to be sworn before Alderman A. J. Henning, and Alderman Louis Wicks, charging fraud, improper ballot counting, intimidation and other offenses.

It was believed that the information upon which the last batch of warrants were sworn was supplied by workers for the independent Republican group. For the past two weeks, this band of workers who supported Charles C. McGovern, the militant independent candidate, defeated according to the claims of Commissioner Joseph G. BANKERS TOUR COUNTY FARMS VIEWS EXHIBITS business methods adhered to by the majority of farmers.

The farmer was the first victim of deflation after the war. In 10 years we have undergone what we believed to be an agricultural depression, McMillen said. "For most of those years we experienced what we thought was industrial prosperity. Now, in the great shake-down, we discover that perhaps these years of so-called adversity, were not so bad for farming after all. Farm prices, it is true, are worse than ever, but at least farmers have had a decade to get used to low prices. And regardless of prices and the apparent difficulties in making profits, the basic structure of agriculture remains in excellent condition."

Start Farm Tour

The address was preceded by a dinner in the grange dining hall and a short business session presided over by Joel S. McKee, president of the banker's association.

Led by County Farm Agent H. R.

WHEELER McMILLEN

McCullough, a motorcade carrying over a score of bankers from every section of the county began a visit of the leading farms in North Beaver township where the cream of the county's agricultural activities may be found.

The initial stop of the tour was at the Lingerfelt Dairy, Mt. Jackson, where Dick Thompson, owner led the party through the plant and explained the operation of his 600 gallon dairy. The guests were given demonstrations of the milk bottling machine, bottle washer, cold storage, and at the close were treated to ice cream by the owner.

From the first stop in the tour the bankers were joined by a class of boys from the North Beaver Vocational school of Mt. Jackson headed by their instructor, Harry L. Bartes.

View Sheep Farm

The second stop one of the most interesting of the tour, was made at the 195 acre sheep farm of W. J. Duff at Bossemere. The party was joined by Mr. Duff, who showed his splendid Merino herds to the visitors.

The owner explained that he has been a strong advocate of the county wool pool and disposed of his wool with the rest of the raisers.

Duff declared he has been able to obtain an average of 10 pounds of wool per sheep and expects an average yield in the coming months.

At the H. L. McCurley farm in North Beaver township, the third stop, the bankers viewed splendid examples of Jersey cows and White Leghorn poultry. Part of this farm's 500 fowls were shown in a barn loft, where several flocks have been bred.

Guerseys, including one cow that ran off with the grand champion three times at the New Castle fair, were seen at the Glad Run farm of William R. Fox the fourth stop on the trip.

"On we went. Betsy (her five-year-old daughter) was on the bed in the cabin. I was looking through a periscope, a telescope with a red light. I guess it was Huntington light. I heard one of the men ask my husband 'Are you a clambanger?' and he replied 'I am not a clambanger.'

"While we were running, the man who was doing the talking asked my husband what time it was." Mrs. Collings continued. "I had to turn on the lights in the cabin. It was 1:30 a.m."

Again she paused. The attendant, a representative from the district attorney's office, passed her another glass of water.

Gave Compass Reading.

"After a while," she said, "the man gave the compass reading. It was north, northwest. My husband apparently had his mind on South Norwalk. Some time later I heard someone say 'This is Stamford,' the man said to my husband, 'Keep on going.' My husband obeyed. Presently the man said 'Stop the boat!'

"Mrs. Collings said that the men who boarded the boat promised her husband that 'everything would be all right' if he would do as they said.

When they tied his hands, she said, they told him that they had to do it because if he saw a wounded man he might become violent. From their conversation she guessed that they tied his hands behind his back and made him sit on the rear seat, on the right hand side facing forward.

Husband Pledged.

At this point Collings pleaded with the men to take the boat and leave him and his family unharmed, his wife said.

"If it's the boat you want," she quoted him as saying, "Put us in the rowboat and take the boat, we'll do anything you say."

Mrs. Collings said she had come out of the cabin and attempted to help her husband but that the elder man seized her and forced her back.

James P. Williams.

James P., the son of Neal Williams, 627 Raymond street, died Thursday, September 24, in the Jameson Memorial hospital following a short illness.

He was born in this city November 2, 1904, the son of Neal and Nora Williams and had spent his entire life here. He was employed as a motor inspector at the Carnegie Steel Mill.

He was a member of the Central Presbyterian church.

An added sadness is incurred by this death inasmuch as his brother Cloyd, died on May 30 of this year and his mother on June 15 of 1930.

James was a graduate of the New Castle high school in the class of 1923.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. from the residence at 627 Raymond street with Dr. C. B. Wingard and Rev. G. M. Landis officiating. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

Besides his father, he is survived by two brothers, Neal and Leon and a sister, Clara, at home and an aunt, Miss Vera Williams.

L. L. O. I. MEMBERS BANQUET THURSDAY

The L. L. O. I. Martha Washington, No. 24 members participated at a lovely affair Thursday evening when they sat down to a banquet given by the Orange side of the lodge with the Blue side as their guests, which was the result of a contest held, with the latter winning by eight points. The event was held in their hall, and a delicious chicken dinner was served at tables prettily decorated in the first degree colors, orange and blue, where covers marked for fifty guests.

Mrs. Chauncey Davis captain of the orange side and her committee comprising Mrs. Mary Hettenthaler, Mrs. Rachel Reynolds, Mrs. Alma Braden, Mrs. Edna Woods, Mrs. Mary Leishman, Mrs. Jane Goodchild, Mrs. J. Earl Davies and Miss Jessie Harper conducted the affair in an excellent manner. Mrs. George Houston was captain of the blue side.

A very special guest of the evening was Mrs. Mary Kerber of Youngstown, Ohio, and a former active member of the lodge, and who has been confined to her home the past three years by illness.

Following this feature, a lodge was held at 8 o'clock with Worthy Mistress Helen Ray in the chair. The first degree was put on, and the prize for the feature of the program that was given for the benefit of the Orange Home at Hatborough, was won by Mrs. Bertha Nelson. Miss Jeanette Rennie was also the winner of a token during the evening.

In two weeks, their regular meeting will be held at 7 o'clock in their hall, and following a card party for members and friends will be in order. Mrs. Rachel Reynolds is chairman of the committee in

"JACK" OFFUTT WEDS OHIO GIRL

Mr. and Mrs. George William Breitenstein of St. Clairsville, O., announce the marriage of their daughter Wilma, to John Thomas Offutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Offutt, Edison avenue.

The ceremony was performed on Sunday, September 20, in the home of the bride, with Rev. J. McMillen, officiating with the ring service. The couple was unattended and only members of the immediate families were present.

The bride was charmingly gown in a black satin suit, the short jacket being lined in peach colored satin and a peach colored lace blouse completed the ensemble.

Mrs. Offutt attended Columbus University three years and is a member of the Delta Gamma Sorority. She also attended Marshall College at Huntington for a year. Mr. Offutt is connected with the W. J. Offutt Company of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Offutt, after a trip through New York State, will make their home in New Castle.

HADASSAH PLANS YEAR'S PROGRAM

Mrs. L. B. Kohn acted as installing officer Thursday evening when she installed the new incumbents for the New Castle Chapter of Hadassah at the executive meeting held in the home of Mrs. Nate Love, North Mercer street.

A program of much activities was planned for the winter and note was made of the annual convention of Hadassah in connection with the Zionist organization, which will be held in Atlantic City, November 8 to 12. Delegates to this convention will be named at the regular meeting of Hadassah on October 7.

October and November will be observed as membership months and a feature of this period which will be duly celebrated is Hadassah Sabbath, November 7.

Other matters of interest held the attention of the women through the evening after which refreshments were served.

E. T. W. MEMBERS LUNCHEON EVENT

Mrs. Thomas Lindsay of the Merion road received the E. T. W. Kensington members in her home Thursday afternoon when she and Mrs. James Gilfillan, associate hostesses, entertained at a prettily appointed 1 o'clock luncheon. The large table was centered with a bowl of garden flowers and places marked for 16 guests, including Mrs. Asbury Pontius and Mary Gilfillan, who were special visitors of the occasion.

The hours following the feature were spent informally with fancy-work and the piecing of quilt patches.

On October 22 the members will be guests of Mrs. W. H. Gillespie of Rhodes Place with Mrs. C. H. Milholland as joint hostess.

Mrs. H. C. Warner's and Mrs. H. C. Campbell's group will be in charge for the day and the new year books will be ready.

The needle committee will meet at nine a.m. and sew until lunch time. All women of the church are invited to the luncheon and reservation can be made through the group leaders or Mrs. E. B. Bartlett, 3750-M.

Jolly Twelve Club

Members of the Jolly Twelve club were pleasantly received Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles DeCarbo, on Wilmington avenue when she entertained at their regular session.

Cards formed the main pastime, with lovely favors for honors being won by Mrs. Mario Frabotta and Mrs. Rudolph Egizi. Lunch was later served at the small tables which had been arranged by the hostesses. Covers marked for the club associates and three guests, Miss Edith DeCarbo, Mrs. Assempe Ciossi and Mrs. Sam Malelli.

They adjourned to meet again in two weeks with Mrs. Victor Collelo on South Mill street.

LEGION CONVENTION MOVE FOR REPEAL

AFTER several years attempt to bring the question before the delegates to the American Legion convention, the move has finally been accomplished and the "wet" enthusiasts in the convention at Detroit, succeeded yesterday in having the legion publicly dragged into the wet and dry controversy.

The legion delegates voted in favor of submitting the question of repeal of the dry law to the states, expressing their repudiation of the Eighteenth Amendment.

It is a question whether this action of the delegates actually represents the sentiment of a majority of the ex-servicemen of the nation which the legion represents. But it will be seized upon by "wet" enthusiasts everywhere as the basis for lodging a new drive for the return of beer, and will be emphatically urged upon the nation as the expressed attitude of the American Legion.

Entering of the legion into the propaganda campaign for the return of beer, is strangely foreign to what we are accustomed to visualize as the high ideals of citizenship held by the American Legion.

It seems to many that the legion delegates strayed afar from the ideals of that great body in the step recorded yesterday at the Detroit convention.

MYRIAD OF INVENTIONS

Great is the debt of society and every individual to inventors whose search for something better has kept progress on the move and largely directed the course of civilization. Invention is the fountain-head of progress.

Everything modern man does or uses involves directly or indirectly one or more inventions. He lives in a world of invention. And yet, though thousands of inventions enter into his daily life, they represent but an infinitesimal fraction of the effort and ingenuity expended upon invention.

There were 32,000 inventions on exhibition at the Second International Patent Exposition in Chicago but only a few of them will ever find a market or win universal adaptation. The few successes will compensate for the failures by proving immensely useful and profitable.

The mechanical absurdities of one inventive era may prove to be domestic, commercial or industrial essentials of the next. Virtually all of the world's great inventions have been lauded at or condemned at some stage of their development.

That one success in a million tries is what keeps the inventor at his tools and spurs him on to new dreams and new hopes. Like the lottery gambler, he is certain the next will be the winner.

There is another type of inventor—the accidental inventor. With him it is merely a matter of having hit upon an idea and putting it into execution. One invention doesn't make an inventive genius.

FEDERAL RELIEF

Some of the advocates of government relief for the jobless affect a critical tone which might leave the uninformed and unwary under the mistaken impression that the government has done nothing toward that end. If that is their purpose, they are unfair and unpatriotic.

To say simply, as certain politicians have said, that the government should appropriate a billion dollars to provide new work for the unemployed, ignores in effect the fact that the government is already pledged to spend a much greater amount for exactly that purpose. These men are talking politics, not humanitarianism.

This year the federal government is spending $787,587,000 on public works and drought relief. Thousands of men and women have been given employment through this program. From the beginning of the unemployment crisis until the end of the present fiscal year next June the national government will have completed, started or projected a construction program to cost about $1,550,000,000.

Can the people place any confidence in public men who misrepresent what the government is doing or has done in a crisis? Theirs is the serious crime of breaking down the confidence of the people in their government at a time when the government must have the support of every citizen if it is to pass safely through the rapids and rocks of economic chaos.

HELPS TO MAKE REDS AND GANGSTERS

At a critical time in the affairs of our nation, when every patriotic citizen is doing his best to help his fellow-man, to encourage true patriotism and discourage anarchistic bolshevism, it ill behoves any man or set of men to attack our president in such a manner as to arouse hate and dissatisfaction with all government.

A chain of newspapers recently carried on an absurd campaign demanding that the federal government declare martial law and put down gang activities in the various cities of the several states. When the president, burdened by the weight of large national and international affairs, gave no heed to them—if, indeed, he was aware of their activity—these newspapers demanded of the chief executive of the nation, in screaming type: "Are you suffering from sleeping sickness?"

This kind of talk breeds Reds. The president is entitled to the respect of every citizen because he is the head of the nation. Newspapers which have a general circulation among persons of intelligence do not resort to this sort of abuse and tirade. The methods of the yellows, however, are calculated to, and do, have an effect upon the moronic style which reads them. This type of mind reasons, "They oughta do this" and "They oughta do that," when anything is amiss. This mind is a bit vague about who "they" is, but it generally means the president. He is blamed for dull business, low wages, unemployment, crop failure, the price of gasoline, high rent, traffic congestion, indigestion, bad streets and static.

Attorney General Mitchel calmly called attention to the fact that military law cannot step in to take over the police power of a state unless local authorities have been proved helpless and unless the state makes the request. Abusing the president only helps to build up that rebelliousness and hatred and contempt for authority which is responsible for gang activities—Louisville Courier-Journal—(Democratic).

All Of Us

The Look of Peace
It Comforts Sorrow
I Have Seen It on Faces

By MARSHALL MASLIN

A man said to me: "Some day you will die!"
It was a shock to be told that so flatly. My mind stopped and thought it over. . . . Of course . . . To be sure, some day I would die. I would be no longer a part of this activity that is all around me. Didn't I know it? Hadn't the insurance agents tactfully reminded me of the fact? Were not graves and funeral parlors and little aches and pains constant reminders of death? . . . Why, yes, the man was right. Some day I would die.

Well, what of it? Do not all men, all women, die some day? We go to funeral services and we come away talking to each other as if WE were immortal. . . . But we are not immortal, and well we know it. Some day there will be an end to living. For me. For you.

I have seen men die. . . . The first time was when I was less than ten years old. The man fell from a pole, electrocuted, and died instantly. I looked at his face—he was a young workman—an there was an expression on it that I did not understand. . . . The small boy was puzzled and did not speak about that look.

And later, in the war, I saw many men die. . . . There was one, a frail, German youngster, upon whose face the rain fell and the star-shells flickered. He died alone in a wood and when we found him we found a sweet look of peace upon his face. . . . The first dead American boy I ever saw had that same expression. He had died quickly and in terrible violence, but his face, unmarred, was young and smooth and seemed to smile. . . . And strangely enough, or perhaps it is not strange at all—I can remember no dead face that did not bear this look of quiet pride and gentle peace.

Something happens. As a man is unbroken, the flesh seems relieved, and as it passes across the line the spirit sends back a smile that comforts those who weep. I do not quite understand it, and yet I know that this is true. And doctors and nurses agree that there are few indeed who do not slip quietly away from life, with little pain. The man, dying, is truly

"Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

It is true, and there is no cause for fear nor for any shrinking apprehension. Death will be easy when we are ready for him, and life need not be for any of us long preparation for Death. We may put the thought aside and go about our very personal business of living. For the present, at least, that will take up all our time.

Sen. Weingartner
Speaker Today At
W.C.T.U. Session

Beaver County W. C. T. U.
Convention Will Hear
Prominent Speakers
Today

International News Service
AMBRIDGE, Pa., Sept. 25.—Messages from departmental directors were slated to occupy most of the time of delegates to the final session of the 50th annual convention of the Beaver County W. C. T. U. here today.

Awaited with particular interest was a message from Mrs. S. R. Pidde on non-alcoholic grape juice and its sale and an address by State Senator George T. Weingartner of Lawrence County.

In a statement issued at the convention, State President Ella B. Black declared the proposal of Augustus Busch, St. Louis soft drink manufacturer and member of a family of old-time brewer, for restoration of 4 per cent beer as a means of relieving unemployment and economic distress.

Scores Busch
Augustus Busch, she said, "advocates 4 per cent beer as a cure for the unemployment situation, saying it would bring prosperity to the nation and happiness to the working man. Many Harris Armor says."

"People who believe this will go to heaven, the Lord will not hold any one responsible who has so little brains."

Mrs. Alvin Sherbine, General Secretary of the young people's branch of the state union declared she believed a majority of young people of Pennsylvania are in favor of prohibition and its enforcement.

"From every section of Pennsylvania," said Mrs. Sherbine, "comes calls from groups of young people who want to be organized for the purpose of actively promoting obedience and enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment."

AN ANTI-RAT CONGRESS
(International News Service)

PARIS—War on rats has been declared by a number of countries which are sending delegates to a big Congress to be held in the French capital within a few weeks. Every nation in the world has been invited to send a representative to discuss the rat and other pests. The French Government is giving full support to this large meeting which will be more important than those held three years ago.

a prison is a sort of cess between a college and a hotel. New York has always had a kindly and tolerant view of ladies who collide with the law, all contrary reports notwithstanding.

At 6th Ave. and 10th St. next door to Jefferson Market Court, is the new House of Detention for women. It is bright and imposing without a trace of the usual prison atmosphere. The building with its terraces and gay penthouses on the roof, resembles one of the better apartment houses.

Authorities there reveal that almost every day at this season of the year several apartment-hunting wives drop in at the office and ask about rentals.

Every time I pass through the Grand Central Station I crane my neck upward and look again at the most astounding artistic error ever made. Such slips as six toes on the painting of the Indian in the rotunda of the Capitol at Washington are compared to this one, not worth noting.

The artist who covered the vast domed ceiling of the station with an elaborate painting of the heavens, with all the constellations, daubed the whole panorama on upside down!

Car Crashes Over Hill When Driver Lights A Cigarette

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 25.—Five persons were injured, two seriously, when an automobile driven by Herman L. Stahl, owner of the Lyric theater, Oil City, crashed into a telephone pole on the steel hill out of Franklin toward Pittsburgh, toppling 25 feet into a ravine.

Police report Stahl was lighting a cigarette while the car was in motion and his wife was holding the wheel as he did so. Mrs. Stahl suffered bruises and shock. Mrs. Sarah Broisa, a fractured left leg; Mrs. Michael Potts, severe scalp wound and injured shoulder and Mrs. Julius Stahl, bruised and cut. Stahl was only shaken up.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—With all the daring of a Daniel going among the lions, Mahatma K. M. Gandhi was prepared to leave this evening for Lancashire, where thousands are idle because of the Indian boycott of British cotton goods.

Despite threats that he would be lynched if he ventured into the Manchester area, Gandhi refused to abandon his plans to carry his message of Indian political and industrial freedom to the distressed textile workers of Lancashire as well as their employers.

Gandhi himself said he was not concerned about the threats against his life and that he did not fear any attack.

Farmer Is Shot, Thrown Into Mine, By Corn Thieves

BROOKVILLE, Pa., Sept. 25.—With his left jaw almost shot away, his left ear torn to fragments and with shot from a shotgun shell throughout the left part of his head and neck, E. M. Reitz, 45, of New Bethlehem was brought to Brookville hospital early yesterday where an emergency operation was performed in hopes of saving his life.

Reitz, who is in a semi-conscious condition, says he was watching for thieves who had been stealing corn. He surprised two men in the act and says they shot him and he lost consciousness. Alarmed at his non-appearance, relatives instituted a search and found him in an abandoned coal mine near the confederate after more than 24 hours. It is believed that he was thrown into the mine entrance and left for dead.

Society Broker Denies Charges

Beaver Society Broker Denies Having Cheated Two Women Out Of $100,000

International News Service

BEAVER, Pa., Sept. 25.—Trial of H. Clay Sexton, society broker, charged by two widows here with the fraudulent conversion of approximately $100,000, began its fifth day today with the expectation that the case would be handed to a jury.

Completely denying any fraud in the handling of the accounts of his accusers, Mrs. Vye S. Thompson and Mrs. Jean P. Dawson, Sexton testified that the women owe him more than $100,000 for the services he performed for them.

Four Convicted On Arson Charge

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 25.—Five hours' deliberation resulted in guilty verdicts in the cases of Tom Baxter, Connellsburg restaurant proprietor; his wife, Belle, and John Sarne and Thomas Ross, all charged with arson and conspiracy to defraud insurance companies. James Torch, the fifth defendant, who became ill in court, was acquitted.

Death Results From Slippery Rock Dive

BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 25.—Slack to the nostrils and head when he dived into Slippery Rock creek six weeks ago, is believed to have produced the sinus condition which caused the death of David C. Ross, 24, at his home here. It is said that Ross never had dived from a board before, and he struck the water with great impact. An operation failed to relieve the conditions that caused death. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Ross, a brother, Attorney F. Clair Ross, and a sister, Mrs. Thomas R. Kyle, all of Butler.

Women Canners Complete Most Of Job Thursday

Over Eighteen Hundred Jars
Of Foodstuff Canned In Two Schools

STILL WORKING AT
BEN FRANKLIN TODAY

With a spurt which brought yesterday's canning operations to a peak, the Community Canning project which opened Monday in the George Washington and Ben Franklin junior high schools reached a climax, when 1823 quarts of vegetables and fruit were put up.

At the Ben Franklin, the workers canned 1220 quarts of beans, vegetables, fruits and preserves. The women working at the George Washington school canned 602 quarts of foodstuff, completing their job around three o'clock in the afternoon.

Some of the women are still working today at the Ben Franklin school, where additional donations are being taken care of. Although the biggest part of the task has been completed, arrangements have been made to take care of future donations to the canning project and the stuff received will be canned in one of the churches.

Up to today, 5,847 quarts of tomatoes, beans, peaches, apples and various other fruits and vegetables have been canned. Half this has been given back to the women who worked at the canning, as their share in the project, while the remainder will be placed in storage to be used this winter. It is expected that the donations received today which will be taken care of at the Ben Franklin building will bring the total number of jars canned to 6,000.

The public has cooperated most generously in the project which was sponsored by the Garden Club, Associated Charities and Red Cross, and the committee in charge is enthusiastic in their praise of the splendid work done by all.

Those who aided the project with auto trucks to transport the fruit and jars were: Kirk, Hutton and Co., H. M. Kirk; McCoy Motor Co.,
George A. Wagner, Ramsey & Sons,
Keystone Transfer Co., through
Harry Gormey, New Castle Grocery
Company, William B. Howe, New Castle Feed and Coal company, Ivor
V. Davis, while Councilman Sam
Traser furnished one of the city trucks.

LOSES AGENT'S FEES, GAINS WIFE

Award 36 Prizes At St. Mary Show

St. Mary School First Annual Flower Show
Proves Successful

MANY FINE SPECIMENS OF FLOWERS SHOWN

Thirty-six prizes were awarded at the first annual flower show of the St. Mary school which took place Wednesday in the basement of the church. The exhibition of flowers and vegetables pleased a large audience which viewed the different specimens during the afternoon.
Mrs. William Howley and Mrs.
Harry Wettich who were in charge conducted the show in a pleasing manner. The judges composed of Mrs. William Kennedy, Mrs. W. C.
Eckendorf and Mrs. Charles Burkhardt had a difficult task in selecting the winners.

Aside from the flowers brought by the children for prizes some beautiful delphiniums and zinnias of rare coloring and form were presented by Mrs. Felix Delmez. These attracted much attention. Another exhibition of turtle heads and blue centaurea brought in by Mrs. Harry Wettich, chairman of the school garden committee were also attractive.
The next program by the St.
Mary garden will be presented on October 1.

After careful selection the judges awarded the following prizes:
Kathleen Fazzones, Eileen Mitchell,
Teresa Cosgrove, Mary Catherine
Gallagher, William Chip, John
Howley, Charlotte Mills, Mary Louise
McGrath, Patricia Moroney, Victoria
McGrath, Kathleen Maher, Felix

CITY TO AWARD WELCH REQUEST FOR BUS STAND

Council met today in the City building and instructed Solicitor Robert White to prepare an ordinance which will permit the Welch Transportation Company to park buses for 10 minutes parallel to the curb along the Wallace block property, North Jefferson street. A request for his privilege was asked recently.

The parking privilege was recommended by Mayor Gillespie and Police Chief Cy Horner.

Councilman Reeves asked if the recommendation meant that "other people cannot park there."

Solicitor White informed councilmen that the right to allow the parking could only be given through city ordinance.

It was explained that the company was willing for any common carriers to park busses in the section they asked as a parking site.

"How about the Traction Company?" asked Burns.

"Along a fire plug," replied Treiser.

"If we grant it, this should be done in a legal way," advised White.

Burns moved the recommendation to committee. It was sent to the body for future consideration.

Later council passed Councilman Reeves' motion, which authorized the solicitor to prepare an ordinance creating a bus stand for a certain distance along the Wallace block side of North Jefferson street.

During the discussion it developed that another waiting room and ticket office may be in the cafeteria of the Y. M. C. A. and a bus stand on the north side of the west portion of the Public Square. The bus stand would be located near the Y. M. C. A.

Council has been hopeful that all of the busses which operate in and out of the city would use the same bus stand.

Complete Plans For Conference

Arrangements Completed For
Y. W. C. A. Setting Up
Conference Next Week

Arrangements have been completed for the Setting Up Conference to be held at Camp East Brook, Wednesday, September 30, when the program for the coming year will be outlined for the various departments of the Y. W. C. A.

Invitations have been issued to all members of the board, the staff, committee members, and club officers and club advisers.

The meeting has been arranged so that a program which will enable the Y. W. C. A. to best meet the needs of the city of New Castle, may be arranged.

The conference will include discussions on membership, education, International Institute, Elm Street Center, Cafeteria, Use of Building, Girl Reserves and Health and recreation.

Reservations for lunch must be made by Monday so that the committee in charge of the conference will know how many to prepare for. Transportation will be arranged for those who need it.

Mission Truck In Use After Repairs

Let's Get Down to Business

Now that the canning season is nearly over and everything put away for the winter, let us draw your attention to the many things that cannot be canned. The farmers are also nearly through with their harvesting and now they will have more time to produce better things. We went to the country this week and believe me it was gratifying to be able to get so many things of real quality—everything so fresh and nice, be sure and drop in tomorrow for your portion. And for this week end we have a lot of fine chickens and we dress them for you while you wait. During these few hot days we realized it was too hot to cook much so we just turned our chickens all out on the range and let them eat and eat, and they have grown to be the nicest lot of youngsters we've ever had.

Pagley Denies Complicity In House Burning

Says He Had Nothing To Do With Setting Fire To Highland Avenue House

PROSECUTION SHOWS CEMENT PURCHASES
Pagley Claims That The Cement Was Bought For Use In His Shoe Shop

Dominick Pagley, one of the defendants on trial before Judge Chambers in Lawrence County court for arson, went upon the witness stand in his own defense Thursday afternoon, and made a complete denial of the charge. He also denied that there had been any conspiracy between him and his uncle, Harry Pagley, the other defendant in the case, to have the house burned. He denied knowing Tony Spagnola of Rochester who lost his life in the explosion which wrecked the Pagley house on Highland avenue.

Additional evidence on the side of the commonwealth was heard when court convened. There was considerable testimony regarding the purchase of liquid cement by Pagley on the day preceding the fire. Pagley claimed this cement was for use in his shoe shop.

Chemist On Stand

When court convened on Thursday afternoon Chemist J. K. Hess was called to the stand and told about making tests of the materials found in bottles and cans picked up by Sheriff Frank Johnston at the Pagley house. He found them to be highly inflammable. Actual tests were made of all the substances in the presence of the jury. Samples were poured out in small containers and matches were applied. They all burned readily without wicks, showing that they were very volatile.

Russell McClelland, employed by the Rice undertaking told about going after the body of Tony Spagnola. He found the clothing nearly all burned off. A pair of rubber gloves, partly burned were found on Spagnola's hands. Witness said that Dominick Pagley told him to take the body to the morgue, and that the matter of the disposition of the body would be taken up the next morning.

Coroner J. P. Caldwell was recalled and testified that an autopsy had been held on the body of Spagnola and that it was found that death had been caused by shock from burns.

Found Cement Cans

Sheriff Frank Johnston told about going to the Pagley home on the morning of August 13th. He found liquid rubber cement on the floors, and also a half dozen cans in which there had been cement and other liquids. A can was found in the weeds near the house. Dominick Pagley told the witness according to the testimony that he had thrown the can from the porch into the weeds. Some of the cans recovered still contained cement and other liquids. These were identified by Johnston. He also identified an electric iron found at the Pagley house.

Sheriff Johnston told about a conversation he had with Dominick Pagley at police headquarters on the morning of Aug. 13th. Pagley told him that he had not bought any liquid cement for a long time.

Later when confronted by Johnston with evidence that he had bought two gallons of cement from Knobloch's on South Mercer street on Aug. 12th, Pagley admitted that he had.

Harry Pagley also at first denied having bought liquid cement, but later admitted that he had bought one gallon.

Both men told Sheriff Johnston

LAVAL EXPECTS TO VISIT HOOVER

White House

Premier Laval President Hoover

Within six weeks, it is believed, Premier Pierre Laval, left, of France, will come to the United States, to confer with President Hoover, right, at the White House, top, concerning a solution of the economic problems which are vexing nations. Ambassador Walter E. Edge personally has extended an invitation to Premier Laval. France and the United States have nearly all the gold in the world.

that they did not know anything about the burning of the house.

Harry Pagley had told Johnston that he stayed at Jim Petruccia's on the night of Aug. 13th. Johnston said he checked up and found that this was not true.

Purchase of Cement

Walter Knobloch stated that he is engaged in the leather and shoe findings business. On Aug. 12th he said that he had sold two cans of cement to Dominick Pagley and one to Harry Pagley.

Witness was given a magnifying glass and asked to see if he could find his cost mark on any of the cans. He found it on some of them and on others it was burned off. He could not state positively they were the cans sold on the 12th, but they run out of the same lot as he had in the store. The price of the liquid cement was $1.25 per gallon.

Cross examination witness said it was around 12 o'clock on the 12th when Dominick was in the store. Harry was in around 4 o'clock.

Deputy Fire Marshall Walter L. Gibbons told about going to the Pagley house on the afternoon on Aug. 13th and of making an investigation. He identified an electric iron and a flash light which he had found at the Pagley house. Witness saw a small fire extinguisher at the Pagley house. He was of the opinion that it was empty. Gibbons who is prosecutor in the case made an information on Saturday Aug. 15th.

Notes Of Testimony

Elizabeth Harvard testified that she had made stenographic notes of the testimony at coroner's inquest on Tony Spagnola. The testimony as given at the inquest was then read to the jury. It showed insurance of $3500 on the house and $1,000 on the goods.

Regarding the purchase of rubber cement Pagley had testified that he had not bought any rubber cement within a period of about two weeks. He told where he had last bought cement but did not mention Knobloch.

He also claimed that he had never known Tony Spagnola of Rochester who was found dead in the house.

Dr. Barrett testified that he had assisted Dr. Stutz in holding an autopsy and that death was due to hock from burns.

Jane Reynolds testified that she is bookkeeper in L. Samuels leather store and that on Aug. 10th two gallons of cement and some thinner had been ordered sent to the Pagley place of business. She did not know who placed the order.

This closed the case on the side of the Commonwealth.

Defense Opens

Dominick Pagley, one of the defendants, was the first witness called by the defense.

"I am 26 years old" said he "and live on Montgomery avenue. I am married and make my home with my father-in-law, Mr. Perotte of Montgomery avenue."

"My father's name was Louis Pagley. He lived at the house on Highland avenue extension from 1926 until about a few months ago. Other members of the family were my mother and two brothers. My mother died last March. My father went to Italy in June 1931."

"My father executed a power of attorney for the property to a friend before he left. He was to deed the property to the man who was going to buy it. The man did not take the property and it was deeded to me."

"My father had an insurance policy and two mortgages on the property, amounting to $20,000 in all. The insurance was transferred to me. Later a new policy was written to me."

"I took out insurance on the household goods."

"On July 26th when I took over the property, I intended to have it fixed up and move into it. The Fandosi brothers were to do the work for me. I arranged with them to do inquest that you had not bought any cement for a week or more?"

"Yes, I thought that in view of the cement being found in the house, it would look bad to say I had bought some on the 12th."

"Did you find out who the dead man was who was found in your house?"

"Yes, it was Tony Spagnola of Rochester, Pa."

"Did you know him?"

"I did not."

"Have you ever been to Rochester?"

"Yes, I have been there several times, but only stopped a short time to talk to friends."

"Does the flashlight which was found in your house belong to you?"

"It does not. I never saw it before."

"Do you know anything about the electric iron?"

"Do you know whether or not there was any rubber cement at the house on Highland avenue?"

"Not that I know of, although my father may have had some." I never saw the cans shown here in court. I never took any cement to the house."

"Did your uncle know that you intended to move into the house?"

"He did."

Court adjourned until Friday morning.

Legion Delegates Heed Appeal From President; Vote Down Cash Bonus

Appeal Made By President Hoover To Avoid Excessive Expenses Takes Effect

Vote 902 To 507 To Reject Demand For Immediate Payment Of Cash Bonus

International News Service
DETROIT, Sept. 25.—President Hoover's appeal to American War Veterans to avoid excessive federal expenditures until the nation recovers from the economic depression was upheld late Thursday by the American Legion when its 13th annual convention rejected the demand for immediate cash payment of the bonus in full. The vote was 902 to 507 against the cash bonus.

The convention then adopted the majority bonus report, which declared the Legion was willing to forego the cash bonus at this time. There was a roar of approval for the anti-cash resolution, which went over with a bang.

Leaders Silent.

The brilliant array of Republican leaders, who rushed out here from Washington to stop the cash bonus, were noticeably missing from the debate. Theodore Roosevelt, governor of Porto Rico; Harford MacNider, minister to Canada, and General John T. Instructed by Secretary Lewis, the Department's maintenance crews scouted each section of roadway. Every type of illegal sign was removed and prominent among offenders were numerous imitations of official markings, such as "slow down" and "stop," popular with owners of stands.

Several truck loads of cards, boards, cloth and metal legends were removed from trees and poles along the right-of-way. Employees asked permission of adjacent property owners to remove all signs not covered by leases or on which leases had expired. Legally erected signs were not disturbed.

NATIONAL ROAD MEN TO MEET AT SALT LAKE

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 25.—One of the outstanding national conventions, which will be held in the west this year, is that of the American Association of State Highway Officials, convening here September 28.

The convention will be called to order by Henry H. Blood, president, who also is Utah State Highway Commission Chairman, and formerly president of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

Governors of several western states, Congressmen, federal and state highway officials will be on the program. All indications are that the attendance will be the largest of any similar meeting of the national body since its formation, due somewhat to the fact that 1931 will go down in road history of the United States as the record year for highway construction in the forty-eight states.

Thomas H. MacDonald, United States Bureau of Public Roads chief, will be one of the federal officials attending and will make one of the feature addresses. George H. Dern, governor of Utah, is on the program and being one of the leaders in the good roads movement will have much to say on this subject. James Rolph, Jr., governor of California, also will attend.

Charles H. Purcell, California state highway engineer, will have a paper on the vast amount of road construction work which that state had done this year and Col. Carlos W. Huntington, registrar of contractors of California, will tell the visitors about California's licensed contractors' law. Nevada and Arizona have adopted similar licensed contractors' laws.

Bible In Church Pew After 45 Years

LONDON, Sept. 25.—A Bible which was left in a pew at the Wesleyan church of St. Just, Cornwall, 45 years ago, when its owner, W. C. Angwin, left for Australia, was found in the same pew on his return recently.

Angwin is now agent general for Western Australia and he had the prized Bible with him on the occasion of his unveiling the War Memorial Clock Tower.

"The book was presented to me when a boy at the Sunday school," Angwin said, "and although much worn, is still of service."

The students who were so honored were: Jeannette Albracht, Erie; Randall Alexander, Buffalo, N. Y.; Ruth Archibald, East Palestine, O.; Charles Branford, Masury, O.; Wilbur Christy, Pittsburgh; Marvin Clark, Knox.

"Chesterfield Cigarettes are just as pure as the water you drink"

THE WATER YOU DRINK is tested from time to time by expert chemists to make sure that it is free from all injurious substances—that it is pure.

So it is in the manufacture of CHESTERFIELD cigarettes. Expert chemists test all the materials that are used in any way in CHESTERFIELD's manufacture, to make sure that everything that goes into CHESTERFIELD is just right.

THE LEAF TOBACCO IS PURE. Long steel ovens—drying machines of the most modern type—scientifically "dry" and clean and purify the natural tobacco leaves by exact high-temperature treatment.

Then the shreds of cut tobacco, as you see them in your CHESTERFIELD, are again heated, cleaned and purified. From these pure tobaccos the cigarettes are made, and only the purest paper—the best that can be made—is used for CHESTERFIELD.

Cigarettes used to be made in an old-fashioned way, by hand. Now, no hand but yours touches CHESTERFIELD—another purity safeguard.

CHESTERFIELDS are made and packed in clean, sanitary factories where even the air is changed every four and one-half minutes—purity again.

ALL THIS CARE is taken to give you CHESTERFIELDS as nearly perfect as cigarettes can be made. Delivered in a moisture-proof, sealed package, they reach you just as good, just as pure as when they leave the factory. Good . . . they've got to be good—they're just as pure as the water you drink!

80,000 Cattle Get Tubercular Tests

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25.—More than 80,000 cattle, making up 8,223 herds, were tested for tuberculosis in the commonwealth during August, according to the monthly report of the bureau of animal industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. Less than two per cent of these cattle reacted to the test.

All the cattle in sixty townships of nineteen counties and 4,187 individual herds in other townships are awaiting the tests, the report indicated.

More than 85 per cent of the cattle within the state are now under supervision of the drive to eliminate bovine tuberculosis from the state.

No more bathtub ring

BY MARY LEE WORK

How to remove it without rubbing—scrubbing—scouring

An easy way to conquer this and 2 other hard jobs

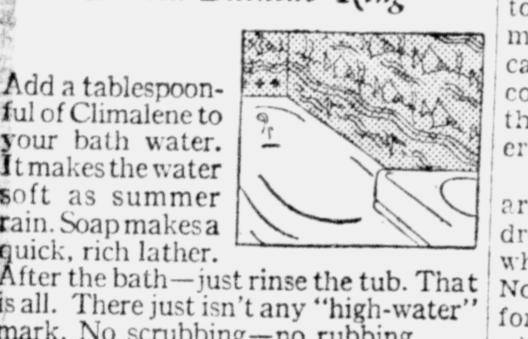

Would you like to know how to get bathtub rings out of the bathtub without having to go through the drudgery of scrubbing and scouring? Today I am going to tell you how to do this... and to make 2 other hard jobs easier... how to cut dishwashing time in half; how to avoid faded, gray-looking washings. To do this, you use a preparation called Climalene that you can get for 10¢ a package at any grocery store.

Thousands of women are using it and taking the time it saves them to shop, go to the movies, and otherwise enjoy themselves.

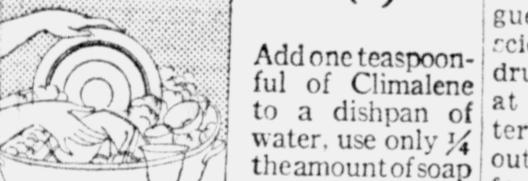

It makes it possible for you to do all your own work, and still have lovely hands. For it is made from the same elements as costly Bath Salts and thus really acts as a beautifying agent to the hands.

Banish Bathtub Ring

Add a tablespoonful of Climalene to your bath water. It makes the water soft as summer rain. Soap makes a quick, rich lather. After the bath—just rinse the tub. That's all. There just isn't any "high-water mark. No scrubbing—no rubbing."

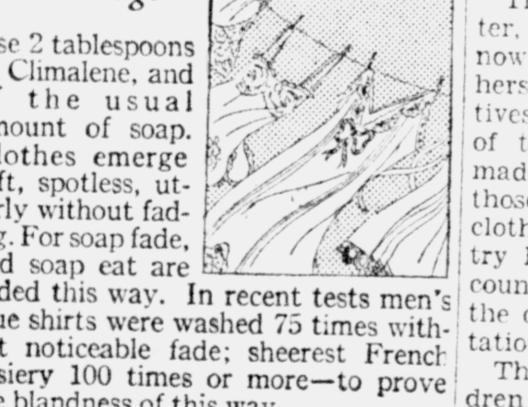

To Make Dishes Sparkle Like Jewels

Add one teaspoonful of Climalene to a dishpan of water, use only $\frac{1}{2}$ the amount of soap you now use. It instantly cuts the grease from dishes and cooking utensils, makes glassware sparkle and china gleam. The Climalene-softened water, plus certain bland cleansing agents, cuts your dishwashing time $\frac{1}{2}$ or more—saves $\frac{1}{2}$ or more the soap you now use.

To Avoid Faded, Gray Washings

Use 2 tablespoons of Climalene, and $\frac{1}{2}$ the usual amount of soap. Clothes emerge soft, spotless, utterly without fading. For soap fade, and soap eat are ended this way. In recent tests men's blue shirts were washed 75 times without noticeable fade; sheerest French hosiery 100 times or more—to prove the blandness of this way.

Why It Cleans

Climalene instantly takes all the harshness out of Lake water, medium hard water, and hard water. Makes it soft and gentle as rain water. So soft it does the work with $\frac{1}{2}$ the soap you use now. At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly DISSOLVES all grease, dirt and grime, and thus cuts your working time $\frac{1}{2}$ or more, in washing, cleaning and in the dishpan.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Experiences Of Summer Are Helpful

Plan For Next Vacation Now, Myers Advises

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

Now is the time to plan for next summer. With our experiences of the past summer near enough to recall easily, we should be able so to think over them as to find in them the factors we should like to have repeated or enlarged during another summer, and the factors we should like, if possible, to rule out. What were some of the most wholesome experiences of our children this last summer? What were some of ours?

What were some noticeably unwholesome ones which we should be able to avoid next summer? Many families or parts of families living in the city passed the summer with some relative on the farm. An occasional member or whole family on returning, have fallen victims to typhoid fever contracted in the country. More escaped merely by good luck. Certainly, in the future, we will be sure the drinking water where we summer will be safe. We can know by little cost or effort who are still more cautious will be inoculated against typhoid fever. By such example we may, moreover, be able to persuade our country relatives so to protect their health and lives.

Some mothers have worn themselves out while with their children on the farm. Maybe the house was too much crowded for the added members, and the unaccustomed cares and inconveniences may have cost them, as well as the kind friends they visited, too much nervous energy and too much annoyance.

Then the relatives on the farm are to be considered. Many hundred of them sinned with deep regret when the visiting family departed. Not all who live in the city and go for a few weeks or months to stay with their rural relatives appreciate the hospitality they receive nor the amount of burden they have put upon their hosts.

Strangely enough, some such guests make themselves, in good conscience, human parasites. The drudgery of the average farm wife is at best pretty heavy. When she entertains her friends she generally outdoes herself to make them comfortable.

Moreover, many of the foods eaten on the farm are about as expensive as those eaten in the city. Not all guests recognize this. An occasional visiting mother makes little or no effort to relieve the hostess of her burdens. I can think of nothing more unkind than for city families to "spouse" on their country relatives, and impinge on their hospitalities.

There's many a kind country sister, mother or grandmother who now is about worn out, having made herself a slave to some visiting relatives during the past summer. Many of these kind hosts would not be made welcome at the city homes of those they had so graciously fed and clothed and sheltered at their country homes. It is proverbial among country people that visitors from the city are not generous with invitations—"to come and see us".

The character of the visiting children also is to be considered. Without being told, they learn that they are parasites when such is the case; and when they are so under their parents' guidance, the injury to them morally is very great, indeed. Visiting children who have not learned appropriate regard for others' rights and property often become grave nuisances to their hosts. It may be a good thing for us parents right now to think seriously over some of these things.

Inventor's Aid Turns Artist At 77

BOYSTON, Sept. 25.—Thomas A. Watson, who helped Alexander Graham Bell invent the telephone, has discovered, at 77, that he is something of an artist.

He recently became a pupil of Professor Benedict, Boston artist, and soon displayed surprising talent.

Watson's pastel, "Still Life," depicting a tambourine, a jar, plums and an apple, against a green drapery background, was a feature of a studio art exhibit.

Now Watson has gone to Europe to study works of the old masters.

Feeding Garbage To Pigs Aids In Cholera Spread

Bureau Of Animal Industry Warns Against Practice

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25.—Feeding garbage containing pork scraps and washings to unvaccinated swine is a dangerous practice, according to the bureau of animal industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

A recent outbreak of hog cholera in Fulton county on more than a dozen premises, and another in Franklin county along the Maryland line, are believed to have been caused by feeding this type of garbage to unvaccinated swine.

Throwing pork scraps or washings to chickens which come in contact with swine, may lead to the same disastrous consequences. Pigs must be vaccinated against hog cholera, if the risks of garbage feeding are to be eliminated, officials said.

Auto Can Work New "Door-Opener"

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 25.—An electrical door-opening device which operates similarly to one invented by Harry Ainsworth of Aurora, Ill., has been made by Edward Pratorius of Los Angeles.

Ainsworth's invention was designed to automatically open a kitchen door in a Chicago hotel while Pratorius was constructed to open a garage door.

The first "door robot" operates by means of light beams. When a waiter approaches the door he intercepts a beam of light. The door automatically opens. When he passes the beam of light the door starts to close.

With the "garage robot" the apparatus responds to a flash of automobile headlights or the sounding of the horn. Once inside the garage the process is repeated and the door which operates like a window and has balancing weights, closes.

When the lights are flashed the light waves are picked up by a photo-electric cell and after a series of other electrical operations starts a motor which lifts the door. If the horn is sounded, sound waves strike and vibrate a sensitive microdiaphragm which operates a sound relay sending current that eventually starts or stops the door-lifting motor.

The principle of Ainsworth's door-opener appears the same except it employs only the photo-electric phase. It would be exceedingly out of place for a waiter to carry a horn.

Potato Dealers Must Have Permit

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25.—Individuals or firms in Pennsylvania potato shipping sections who make arrangements with large handlers to work with them either on joint account or on a brokerage basis must obtain licenses under the Perishable Agricultural Commodities act, according to information received by the Bureau of Markets, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, in Washington.

"Salaried employees do not come under the provisions of the act," the Federal ruling showed. "If a man works for a firm on a salary and brokerage combined, and the arrangement is such that he is a bona fide employee, he is not subject to a license. However, the arrangement understood to have been entered into by some firms whereby they pay buyers $1.00 a month plus $15 a car brokerage, is not considered as constituting the buyer a bona fide employee.

McKean Leads In Area Of Forests

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25.—According to figures compiled by the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters, McKean county leads the state in total forest area with 563,000 acres of woodland. Nearly 90 per cent of McKean county is in forest.

Next in order of forest acreage is Potter county with 510,000 acres; Clearfield county, 500,000 acres; Centre county, 496,000 acres; Lycoming county, 490,000 acres, and Clinton county, 452,000 acres.

Philadelphia county, ordinarily considered a metropolitan city exclusively, has 4500 acres of woodland.

Board Begins To Distribute Trout

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25.—The Board of Fish Commissioners is now busy with its fall distribution of trout. Fish are being shipped from the Pleasant Mount, Corry, Reynoldsdale, Bellefonte and Tionesta hatcheries.

The fish, which are being distributed, are all of a legal size and are being placed only in those waters which have been surveyed by the board and found suitable. A number of streams which were stocked in the spring are receiving another shipment of trout.

Two Clevelanders Held For Murder

Husband And Nephew Of Slain Woman Held By Police—Seven Months Probe

CONVICT GIVES TIP TO POLICE

CLEVELAND, Sept. 25.—Unsolved for more than seven months, the mystery surrounding the murder of Mrs. Nellie Jump, 29, who police said was killed because her assailants wanted her $2,400 insurance money, today were believed to have been cleared.

Donald Stern, 18, nephew of the slain woman and her husband, Elmer Jump, 36, were held at central police station today awaiting formal charges of murder to be placed against them. Both men have confessed to the slaying, according to Detective Inspector Cornelius Cody.

Mrs. Jump's knifed and battered body was found on a lonely road in Lake county, near here, last February 6. Police questioned Stern and Jump and several other suspects at that time but were unable to find a clew to the killing.

The alibi presented by the husband of the slain woman at that time was that Mrs. Jump had driven him to a bowling alley on the night of the murder.

Police said they were aided in the solution of the murder by E. C. Fuller, superintendent of identification at the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield. A convict at the institution, it was said, had told Fuller of another inmate who had been offered a bribe of $50 to aid in the murder of the Cleveland woman.

Presented with the evidence of the convict, Stern and Jump allegedly confessed, police said.

"What Hath God Wrought"

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

They rehearsed all that God had done with them, and how he had opened the door of faith unto the Gentiles.—Acts 14:27.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

Great souls always are humble when Samuel F. B. Morse perfected his new telegraph to the point where the first message was to be sent, he selected as the test message the words, "What hath God wrought?" Likewise, Paul and Barnabas, upon their return to Antioch from that first great foreign mission tour, reported not what they had done, nor yet what men had done to them, but what God had done through them, as our Golden Text (Acts 14:27) records. "They rehearsed all that God had done with them, and how he had opened the door of faith unto the Gentiles." And what tremendous things "God has done with them!" He had made the two decades from Pentecost to the close of that first foreign missions tour the most supremely creative years of all the church's history.

Divinely Empowered

The "road map" for their journeys as well as the necessary provisions for the work had all been left in their hands by their ascending Lord when He said, "Ye shall receive power, when the Holy Spirit is come upon you; and ye shall be my witnesses both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth." They received that promised endowment of power on the day of Pentecost, and clothed with this divine power they witnessed mightily to Christ their living Lord of glory, and three thousand souls were added to the church in one day. The tremendous things done through these men could not be explained by any social influences or financial resources backing them. Nor did men so explain their influence, but "they marvelled, and took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus." In His spirit of serving love—not one of them said that aught of the things which he possessed was his own; but they had all things common. And with great power gave the apostles their witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus; and great grace was upon them all.

Martyrdom and Missions

Grace and power were given them to witness even unto death. Stephen became the first Christian martyr, and "the blood of the martyrs became the seed of the church," as "they that were scattered abroad went about preaching the word throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria." Philip carried the gospel into Samaria to break down an ancient prejudice, and thence down to the door of Africa whence the Ethiopian carried it on into the "dark continent." Saul of Tarsus was converted from the church's chief persecutor, and prepared to become its chief propagator. Peter was prepared for Christ's all embracing world program by a vision and a voice which led him out to minister salvation to a Gentile household, teaching him that "God is no respecter of persons; but in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25.—The economic depression has little appreciable effect on the salaries of public school teachers. This is the conclusion reached by Dr. James N. Rule, Superintendent of Public Instruction, who recently communicated with all county and district superintendents of schools, asking data. The inquiry resulted in responses from approximately two-thirds of the officials. The replies received came from fifty-seven of the sixty-seven counties in the Commonwealth, and reflect at the same time the widely diversified types of industry involved, it was said.

An analysis of the information sent to Dr. Rule shows that forty-two of the county superintendents and 106 of the city and borough superintendents responded to the request. Of these 148 officials, 110 report that salaries during the current year will not be decreased. Twenty-nine indicate that in a few instances, as for example a few districts under a county superintendent, salaries would be slightly less than last year, eight superintendents were uncertain, and one reported a considerable lowering from the amount paid during the previous year. A few districts replied that school boards were filling vacancies by the employment of beginning teachers at minimum salaries rather than to continue replacements with experienced teachers.

Geographically, there is little of significance in the replies other than the fact that the majority of salary reductions is reported from the rural districts in the western counties in the State, Dr. Rule said. The survey showed, Dr. Rule said, that the schools will not suffer on account of the moral effect of a diminished income of the teaching personnel, and that school boards are seeking other ways to cope with the situation without materially disturbing the efficiency of the schools.

The survey showed, Dr. Rule said,

Hunters Own Land Worth $1,284,575

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25.—A recent inventory made by the Board of Game commissioners shows that the value of lands and buildings under their jurisdiction is now $1,284,575. This valuation is conservative, according to Charles G. Stone, executive secretary of the commission. The lands include 243,388 acres of state game lands used, in part, for the establishment of game refuges, but the majority for public hunting grounds. Buildings valued at $169,924 are located on state game lands and used as refuge keepers' headquarters. The area of three game propagation farms where ring-necked pheasants, mainly, are produced, is 1778 acres. The value of the buildings on these three farms is placed at $40,281.

The purchase of lands and buildings under the jurisdiction of the Game commission was made possible by the sale of hunting licenses, none of it coming from general state revenue.

Lamont Asked To Cut Oil Imports

Oil Producers Would Stop Indefinitely Refined Imports And Limit Crude

SECRETARY WILL CONSIDER MATTER

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Southwestern oil producers today recommended to secretary of commerce Lamont that imports of refined oil products be stopped indefinitely and that imports of crude oil be limited to not over 140,000 barrels daily.

Thurman Hill, of Topeka, Kan., and Wirt Franklin, of Ardmore, Okla., conferred with Lamont and said they represented the sentiment of southwestern producers.

Want Imports Reduced
In line with the program approved by the principal oil producing states restricting domestic production to 2,379,000 barrels daily, it was suggested that importing companies, which are the principal producers in Mexico and South America, be requested to limit production in those countries to 531,000 barrels daily.

The committee requested that Lamont use his influence in securing a reduction in oil imports.

Hill declared that "in view of the great emergency now existing in the domestic oil fields and markets, and the serious distress because of unemployment in the oil producing states, we feel we would be justified in asking for an absolute cessation of importation of crude oil as well as refined oil in order to ameliorate conditions and restore to the people of those states their former purchasing power now so sadly lacking on account of the demoralized price for crude oil upon which not only the oil industry, but allied and kindred industries must depend."

Oil importers have indicated to domestic producers that so soon as production in the United States has been curtailed the imports would be cut down sufficiently to be of material assistance in stabilizing the industry, according to Hill.

Program Adopted.

Lamont was told that for two years the producers in California, Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas have held production to demand, while there has been no corresponding reduction in imports. It was explained that the recent Oklahoma City conference adopted a production program of 200,000 barrels daily less than the domestic demand. The program was approved by regulatory commissions in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, so far as it applied to the allowable production in those states.

Hill said that it was the understanding of the domestic producers that commencing last April an effort was to be made by all importers companies to reduce imports in 1931, as compared with 1930, by at least 25 per cent.

Lamont advised the oil men that he will give the matter earnest consideration although there might be legal obstacles to efforts to curtail imports.

Japanese Invasion of Manchuria Is Test for League of Nations

* * * * *
Non-Resistance Policy and Refusal of China to Be Party to New War Leaves Settlement of Dispute to International Body at Geneva—Kellogg Peace Pact May Be Invoked Next.

The invasion of Manchuria by Japanese troops under General Honjo, that was at first thought to be the start of another devastating war, may, by China's attitude in the matter, be dampened to the status of a mere local disorder. When the first clash came between the two countries, Marshal Chang Hsueh Liang, the youthful Governor of Manchuria, ordered Chinese forces to retire peacefully and offer no resistance to the invaders. In this he was backed by Foreign Minister C. T. Wang, who made representations to the Japanese Government, giving it the chance to withdraw and the opportunity to settle the affair with an apology. However, Japanese have continued to occupy town after town in the Province of the Manchus and now the Chinese Government is going to pin its faith in the League of Nations and the Kellogg Peace Pact. If the august body at Geneva decides that Japan has committed an act of war, it will be the duty of member nations of the League to sever trade and financial connections with her. Thus the efficacy of the League as a power for international peace will be tested.

James J. Wilmet, Philadelphia was elected president of the group. Other officers chosen were W. T. Fisher, Altoona, vice president; Rev. E. A. Cole, Washington, second vice president; Rev. H. A. Denton, Pittsburgh, secretary; and Sidney Smith, Avalon, treasurer.

The Pennsylvania Christian Missionary Society of the church chose Mrs. George H. Buckner, Canonsburg as president and elected Charles Showalter, Philadelphia, vice president; Ida Irwin, Big Run, second vice president; Grace Brady, Scranton, secretary and Florence Robertson, also of Scranton, treasurer.

Mechanic Leaves Pet Pipe In Auto Tire

An auto owner drove up to a garage to have a tire repaired. After fixing it, he drove away only to find that after a short time the same tire was flat again. Removing the casing he discovered an old fashioned pipe between the tube and tire. Returning to the garage, he found the mechanic hunting for his lost pipe.

Youthful Discoverer Of Planets To Study

LAWRENCE, Kan., Sept. 25—Clyde W. Tombaugh, youth who astounded the scientific world last year when he discovered a new planet, would rather continue his astronomical research than attend college.

Tombaugh announced he will not enroll in the University of Kansas this fall as winner of the Edwin Emery Slosson scholarship, but would continue his compilations regarding the planet, Pluto. He now is working at the Lowell observatory at Flagstaff, Ariz.

Ellwood High Meets Midland

Second Game Of Season To Be Played Saturday At Midland

INJURIES CRIPPLE ELLWOOD ELEVEN

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 25—Ellwood City High will send a much revamped line-up into the affray against Midland High at the Midland field on Saturday afternoon, it became apparent Thursday when a large number of gridmen failed to put in an appearance due to injuries sustained or renewed in this weeks practice sessions. The Ellwood lineup is indefinite and will not be selected until game time, announced Coach Bob Ingle.

The locals since Wednesday have been working out quite differently than in previous times. Each member of the coaching staff has a definite thing to do and when the teams scrimmage, all combine their criticisms and suggestion into a working order. Prof. J. Eller Bell is the general supervisor on the field and observes that all things work out smoothly.

According to advance dope and previous ability the local boys are in for quite a tough time with Coach Lomond's gridders of Midland. The latter appear to know their football and have a smooth working combination. It was revealed in last Saturday's contest with Freedom, that they are good blockers and tacklers and show promise of having a successful season. They only lost two games last year in eight starts, and these were close scores and against the toughest opponents in the valley, namely Ambridge and Aliquippa. Coach Lomond has a good bit of veteran material left and some capable reserves. His light line is combined with a speedy backfield. His starting lineup will probably be composed of Millie and Green at the wings, Tepovich and Milkovich at the tackles, Koss and Lukisch at the guards, Trbovich at center, Spisak at quarter, Ordich and Jakes at the halves, and Karas at full. The locals will have to keep an eye on the speedy Jakes and the hard driving Karas on Saturday.

Ellwood may yet pull a surprise at Midland if their game is any way near the calibre of their scrimmage sessions on Wednesday and Thursday. The heavy line seems to know more about its business than previously. Voigt has shown up well at tackle this week and Gorowski was an impressive guard. Coach Ingle appears to have a real charging fullback in the person of Campbell who combined with his passing ability may prove to me a threat. All Bill Pander needs is to get past the line of scrimmage and some nice open field running will be observed. Allan Wilson has developed into quite a speedy guard and should acquire many tackles. Cavalier and Pratt have shown up fine in their positions of center and tackle respectively. Welsh at end and Dick Wilson at quarter are the other possible starters.

Coach Ingle will be in dire need of capable substitutes. Shadone a guard and Frisk, star backfield man are definitely out of the game. The former has a bad leg and the latter has been ill all week and has not reported for practice. Tom McKim will not be in the lineup because of a bad back. It is doubtful as to whether Captain Sam Neff and Vogt will be able to play because of their bad legs. Segezi sprained an ankle in Wednesday's scrimmage and Durdick has a bruised hip thus leaving the team in a crippled condition. It appears as if more of the third team will have to be carried than is the usual custom.

The Ellwood team is determined to be in their fighting and keep the game to a low score.

Rally Day Announced At Wurtemburg M. E.

Hope To Exceed Last Year's Attendance; Special Program Planned For Event

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 25—An announcement was made today that the Wurtemburg M. E. church will hold its annual Rally Day on Sunday and great throngs are expected to be present. An effort is being made to exceed last year's attendance record. A special program of music, songs, and readings will be given. Scholars attending one and two years will be presented cross and crown pins. Arrangements are being made to present everyone attending with a souvenir. Those desiring to unite with the church will be received at this time.

Ellwood Bankers In Big Farm Tour

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 25—Ellwood City bankers and bank directors took an active part in the third annual farm tour of the Lawrence County Banker's Association yesterday when over a score of county bankers made a tour of exemplary agriculture worker's farms in North Beaver Township.

The trip was topped with a banquet at Westfield grange hall last night. Wheeler McMillen of New York City, associate editor of Country Home addressed the bankers on "Agriculture's Tomorrow."

The following local bankers were present at the banquet:

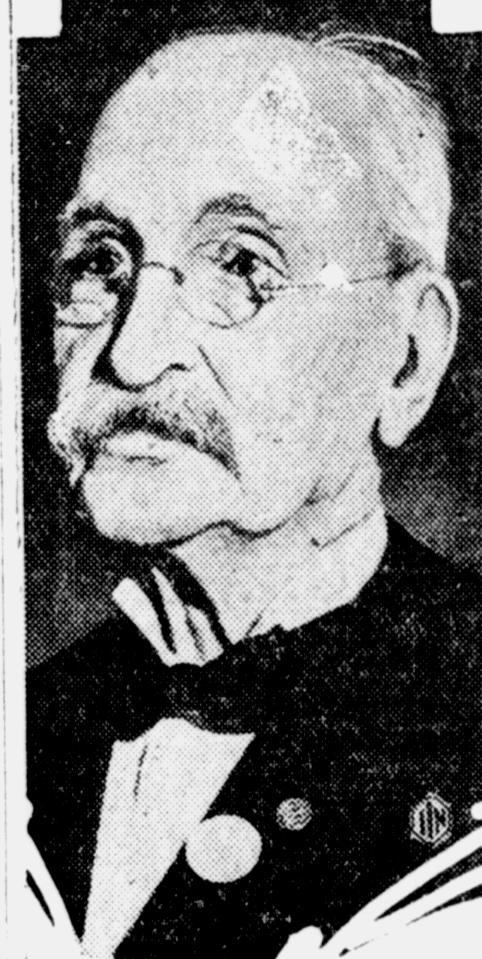

J. I. Porter, C. P. Cloak, J. H. Boots, N. P. Mortensen, First National Bank of Ellwood City; C. W. Jackson, People's National Bank; D. C. Hancher, Elmer Conner, Carl Davidson, Citizen's National Bank; F. M. Davis, First National Bank of Wampum; Fred A. Jackson, of Ellwood City; A. C. Jones also of First National Bank of Ellwood City.

LADIES CAN FRUIT

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 25.—A large number of the ladies of the M. E. church assembled in the church dining room Thursday for an all day canning session. A great number of quart jars of fruit and vegetable were canned for winter use in the church kitchen. A lunch was enjoyed in the afternoon after which all proceeded to work again.

North Side W.C.T.U. Meets On Thursday

Reports And Programs Heard At Regular Meeting At Home Of Mrs. Routledge

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 25—The members of the Northside W. C. T. U. assembled at the home of Mrs. J. R. Routledge in North Sewickley last night. Mrs. Charles Boggs presided at the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Ramsey.

After the meeting had gone into session Mrs. McFate was called upon to give a report of a recent convention at New Castle. Other reports were also heard. Following this a business meeting was held at which various department heads were elected and resulted as follows: Mrs. F. Potter for medal contests and institute work; Mrs. Charles Boggs for soldiers and sailors; Mrs. Marshall for Sunday school and publicity; Mrs. McFate flower committee; and Mrs. J. R. Routledge evangelism.

At a later hour a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess and assisted by Miss Dorothy Magree and Miss Agnes Swartz.

The next meeting of the organization will take place at the home of Mrs. Matheny on the Wampum road.

FUNERAL SERVICES

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 25—Funeral rites for Mrs. Charles Kramer of North Sewickley were held at two o'clock today from her late home.

Rev. Joseph Routledge, pastor of the Providence Baptist church, was in charge of the services. Burial was made in North Sewickley cemetery.

Immediate survivors of Mrs. Kramer are her husband, and five sons: Norman, Glenn, and Willard of Ellwood City, and Raymond, of New York City, and Floyd of Aliquippa.

Mrs. Kramer was a well-known and highly esteemed resident of this vicinity. She was a member of the Rebeleka lodge, Order of Eastern Star of Ellwood City, and the Royal Neighbors lodge of Pittsburgh.

Rotary Hears Talk On Pymatuning Dam

Dr. Cook Reveals Some Interesting Facts On Pennsylvania's Big Project

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 25—Ellwood City will not be without a grid game on Saturday for the Johnson's local semi-pro grid team have scheduled the Westinghouse Collegians of Pittsburgh here at Lincoln Field Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock as their inaugural home battle.

The Collegians are more in the class of the local team than McKeepsport was last Sunday. Their team is made up mostly of ex-Westinghouse High stars, including Shorty Durp, Whitey Freeman, Bobby Die, and Bill Hennessy. Die will be remembered by local people as the boy who upset New Castle two years ago. The latter is a huge smashing backfield man. The team is coached by "Hooks" Carroll former W. & J. star and one of the most outstanding back field men in the tri-state district. Carroll will also play full back in Saturday's game. He has served his connections with the Baer Olympics of McKeesport since he aided in downing the Johnson's last week.

Local fans will keep an eye on him now, a tackle who broke a rib in the last game the Johnson's expect to send in their regular lineup. It was stated that Demas may be missing from the pivot position due to injuries. The remainder of the team is in fine shape.

Dr. Cook also told of the four proposed routes for the Ohio river canal. The Pymatuning dam will be a great aid in the construction of the canal, said Dr. Cook. It would also aid in having the canal come through Beaver Valley.

Read Carpenter of Dusseldorf, Germany, and a son-in-law of J. A. Gelbach, president of the First National bank, was a special guest on the occasion, as was the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Beaver Falls.

Mrs. Anna Morris Is Club Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 25.—The members of the Canfield club gathered at the home of Mrs. Anna Morris on Spruce Way last night for their regular meeting. There were 16 members present on the occasion. Mrs. Mary Hudspeth was associate hostess at this time.

Following an important business meeting at which routine matters were transacted and reports heard, bingo was enjoyed for the remainder of the evening with the prizes being awarded to Mrs. Clara Webster and Mrs. Iva Garwig.

An appointed hour a delicious luncheon was served by the hostesses much to the pleasure of those present.

The club will meet again on October 22 at a place to be later determined.

OFFICERS-TEACHERS MEET

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 25—The officers and teachers of the First Presbyterian church held their regular meeting last night in the church rooms.

David W. Stinson, superintendent of the Sunday school, presided on the occasion. Plans were made to hold promotion day and rally day at the church in the near future. Further plans will be revealed later.

RALLY DAY SERVICES

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 25—Members of the Methodist Church of Wurtemburg are making special effort to have an outstanding Rally Day on September 27.

The entire Sabbath School will participate in the programme. The programme will be composed of recitations, solos, duets, and drills.

At this time all new members will be received into the Sabbath school. Each member will be given a Rally Day souvenir. Certificates of attendance will be awarded all those who have not missed a day in one year. Certificates will also be given to those who have not missed for two years. There are quite a number who will receive two year certificates.

The programme is being arranged by the teachers and the superintendent, Percy W. Wright.

Believed Lost in Atlantic

Setting sail from Barcelona, Spain, on May 25, in a 36-foot boat, Professor Blanco Alferich, former Spanish teacher at the University of Idaho, and his wife and daughter are feared lost in the Atlantic. It is believed that the family had intended to make a world tour, but no news has been received of them since their start from the Spanish port. Top photo shows Professor Alferich, his daughter, Evalu, for whom the boat was named, and Mrs. Alferich. Lower panel shows the little craft in which they braved the Atlantic.

QUEEN OF THE AIR

Local Societies Attend Beaver Presbytery Meet

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 25—Many missionary societies of the local churches attended the Beaver Presbytery meeting of the Women's Missionary Society at the College Hill Presbyterian church in Beaver Falls. A fine attendance featured the meeting.

Dr. T. A. Karcher, a former member of the Rochester Sunday school and now a medical missionary to China gave an interesting talk on the work being done there by various organizations and of the conditions of the people. Mrs. Karcher also brought out some fine points on the same subject.

Following this a period of song was enjoyed followed by an important business meeting at which routine matters were transacted and various reports heard.

Committee Holds Meeting Thursday

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 25—The Educational Committee of the Girl Scout council met with Mrs. L. E. Springer on Sixth street last night to transact important business and complete plans for holding a scout cookie day on October 7. The plan is to have the girl scouts bake cookies which will be on sale. Orders will be taken and delivered. The proceeds of the sale will go towards scout work. The committee is anxious to make the day a success and urge the cooperation of all girls and the public.

Christmas Seal Sale Meeting Is Held Thursday

Representatives Of Lawrence County Society Attend Pittsburgh Conference

PLANS MADE FOR 25th ANNUAL SALE

Mrs. W. A. Pond, chairman, Mrs. Myra Meegan and Miss Sara M. Buckart of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society were in attendance at a conference of tuberculosis workers from Western Pennsylvania, held in the Fort Pitt hotel in Pittsburgh, Thursday. Plans were outlined at this conference for the 25th Christmas Seal sale at this meeting.

Dr. Philip P. Jacobs, director of publications and extension of the National Tuberculosis Association, in addressing the gathering, declared that the most serious public health problem confronting the people of Pennsylvania today is tuberculosis, as it has been for the past twenty-five years.

No other disease," Dr. Jacobs stated, "causes as many deaths in the most productive years of life, 15 to 45, and no other disease claims as many sick victims as tuberculosis. Because of the long duration, no other disease causes more suffering, poverty, and actual dependence as tuberculosis does. The spread of tuberculosis is far more subtle and its infection is more difficult to detect before it produces bed-fast sickness than other diseases of similar extent.

"We know how to prevent it, but the public at large must understand and appreciate this truth, that tuberculosis can be prevented and controlled. That is the main task of our tuberculosis associations, in cooperation with other health agencies, physicians, and the public."

The public gets in a panic over a few cases of smallpox or poliomyelitis, terrible diseases to be sure, but until they are equally aroused about tuberculosis, our progress toward control of that disease will be halted. The Christmas seal sale is the greatest opportunity for citizens to assist in fighting tuberculosis and to share the task of bringing about its ultimate control.

"The 1931 Seal sale memorials the 25th issue of the tuberculosis Christmas Seal. It pays a tribute to Miss Emily Bissell, of Wilmington, Del., the sponsor, with the Philadelphia North American, of the first Seal sale in the United States which was conducted in 1907 mainly in Pennsylvania and Delaware.

"Extensive health progress made possible by the sale of Christmas Seals and Health Bonds have helped in lessening the ravages of tuberculosis and in improving health conditions.

Mrs. Swinnerton Finds Fortune—In Old Stock

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 25.—The old desk in the home of James Swinnerton, noted artist, in a suburb near here, gave up a mystery that for a while was very thrilling in a financial way.

Mrs. Swinnerton bought the desk about 12 years ago. While she was cleaning it up recently she pulled out a drawer and beneath a sheaf of papers discovered a certificate for 2,600 shares of stock in an oil company at $10 a share. It was made out in 1914 to Douglas S. Watson, of San Francisco, father-in-law of Herbert Hoover, Jr.

Quite excited Mrs. Swinnerton communicated with Watson. He signed and said:

"Thank you very much indeed. Have you a fireplace, Mrs. Swinnerton? Then you will do me a favor if you will be so kind as to start you next fire with that piece of paper."

Watson said the company had been out of existence for years.

Hindenburg Returns Gold Sabre To France

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—A symbol of the fine sense of honor and chivalry of President Hindenburg, Germany's "grand old man" is shown in the revelation that the President recently returned to France a victory trophy of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870.

Military friends of President Hindenburg, who had served with him in both the Franco-Prussian and

Two young men who also lost their lives were James Smith, 21, and Jack Wych 16. When the girl dashed forward to secure the ariadele, Wych went to her assistance. At that moment a huge wave broke over the slipway and carried them out to sea.

Smith then tried to throw a lifebuoy to them but the raging seas carried it away. He then plunged into the water in a last desperate effort to save them but failed and drowned. Another life was lost when a young unidentified girl who was attempting to assist him was also swept into the sea.

Diocesan Directors Of Catholic Charities Discuss Relief Question

CATHOLIC LEADERS WILL MEET SUNDAY

(International News Service) WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Sept. 25—State aid for needy families in their own homes; creation of commissions entirely independent of present public welfare organizations and the establishment of emergency relief funds by the federal and state governments through increased income taxes and bond issues, if necessary, were advocated by diocesan directors of the Catholic charities of the United States here today.

The proposals were discussed at a conference of seventy-five diocesan executives prior to the opening of the national sessions of the organization on Sunday which will bring together 2,000 national Catholic leaders in an attempt to thresh out the problems of unemployment and the provision of relief in the present emergency. Sessions will continue through Wednesday.

The Rev. William J. Kane, of Albany, N. Y., presided at the preliminary executive meeting. Participating in the discussions were Monsignor Robert F. Keegan of New York, and the Revs. J. C. Carr, Buffalo; Matthew Judge, Hartford; Thomas J. O'Dwyer, Los Angeles; John J. Butler, St. Louis; John J. Glenn, Washington, and Thomas F. Reynolds, Boston.

While no resolutions were adopted and no formal statement was issued at the conclusion of the executive session, it was learned authoritatively that the diocesan directors feel that the present systems of relief are inadequate to cope with the emergency.

Lindberghs Draft Report Of Aerial Survey Of Flood

Lindberghs Remain In Nanking To Draft Report Of Aerial Tour Of China

(International News Service) NANKING, Sept. 25—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh remained in Nanking Thursday and were engaged in drafting a report for the Chinese relief commission on their three aerial surveys of the Yangtze river flood area.

"Our flights revealed deplorable conditions," Col. Lindbergh said, "and we were able to locate a number of new flood areas."

"A full report will be made to the Chinese authorities, after which other flights will be made if it is thought we can be of further assistance."

Minister of the Interior Kung today lauded the Lindberghs for requesting the cancellation of formal receptions which had been arranged for them, declaring that they were performing a valuable service to the Chinese flood sufferers.

President Chiang Kai-Shek had not yet had an opportunity to present a medal to Col. Lindbergh, as had been planned.

New Legion Chief Is Choir Singer

WARSAY, N. C., Sept. 25—Henry L. Stevens, Jr., the newly elected commander of the American Legion, sings bass in Calvary Episcopal Church's choir, hunts ducks on the eastern Carolina coast and fishes with the same enthusiasm that caused him to leave his studies at the University of North Carolina and join the army in 1917.

He is known to all North Carolina as a sportsman, but his enthusiasm and energy for all the causes he champions is his chief characteristic. It was a vital part of his success as state commander of the Legion. Elected in 1925, he campaigned the state, passed on his own enthusiasm to other veterans, pushed the Legion's membership to its highest point up to that time and completed North Carolina's quota of the national $5,000,000 Legion endowment fund.

He cleared the department of debt and turned over a $2,500 cash balance to his successor.

A senior in the University of North Carolina when the United States entered the war, Stevens enlisted, trained at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and was assigned as a second Lieutenant to Co. B, 318th machine gun battalion, 81st Division, which he went overseas.

He doesn't like to talk about himself or his war experiences, but his friends insist there was no better soldier.

After the war, Stevens went back to the university to get his A. B. degree and later attended Harvard University Law School.

He began his law practice here, his birthplace, in 1922, as the partner of his father, now dead, and the same year married Miss Mildred Deasley. They have one child, Henry L. Stevens, III, 7 years old.

Stevens himself is 35. He was born January 27, 1896. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma college fraternity, Phi Delta Phi (law), the junior order and the Masonic order.

Welsh News

By WILLIAM A. JOHNS

A glorious and a blessed prayer meeting was held at the Emmanuel Baptist church Wednesday evening when the scripture reading was read by Miss Eva Jones and two Welsh hymns were rendered. The following led in prayer, Deacon Griffith Phillips, Mrs. William Phillips, Mrs. L. Jones and Mrs. William J. Lewis. An interesting talk was given by T. L. Jones, Griffith Phillips and Doctor William M. Davies. Miss Annie Jones was at the piano.

The members of the Emmanuel Baptist church are looking forward with great pleasure and great delight to next Sunday evening when they will have the opportunity of hearing Mrs. Joshua from the Croton M. E. Church.

On Sunday evening, October 4, Rev. Cobb, of the Harmony Baptist church will fill the pulpit of the Emmanuel Baptist church.

Mrs. Brinley Hughes of Cunningham Avenue, has been removed to her home from the Jameson Memorial Hospital.

Harry Ayers of East Long avenue who has been ill for sometime, is reported improving. He has left his bed.

Mrs. John Thomas of Electric street is able to be out after some weeks of illness.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Christy Williams, of Sheridan Avenue, met with a painful accident, when he fell from a chair at his home.

Tent Hall News

Selling Bonds To Improve Highways

For the purpose of funding town ship debts and raising money to do additional road work, Little Beaver township will sell $9,500 worth of bonds on October 1. The bonds are to bear interest at the rate of 4% per cent, the first two of $1,000 each to be redeemable November 1, 1932, and the others $1,000 each year thereafter, in the order of the number of bonds. W. B. Wallace, secretary of the board of township supervisors, is receiving bids for the bonds.

Freshies Get "Orders" From Upper Classmen At New Wilmington

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 25.—Rules for freshman behavior at Westminster College were formulated this week and announced to the first-year students following chapel yesterday. Copies of the rules were distributed to members of the class by members of the Upper Class Committee.

The regulations, to take effect at 12 noon Saturday, are to be in force until the Thanksgiving recess. In addition to the general regulations applying to all first-year students, separate lists for the boys and for the girls were announced.

General Rules
The rules are:
Freshmen are required to attend all home football games and to sit together in the freshman cheering section.

Freshmen enter and leave Old Main Memorial building only by way of the east door. First-year students not allowed to walk on the south terrace.

Handbooks must be carried at all times.

Freshmen speak first to upper classmen and hold doors open for upper classmen to enter first.

Address sal sal professors with full name.

Learn all college yells and songs by Saturday, September 26.

No high school jewelry.

Upper classmen first at all times consider them first always.

Wear a card 8 inches by 12 inches, with your name in full in printed letters 2 inches high, from Sept. 26 to Oct. 3.

All regulations are off from 6 p.m. Saturday until 8 a.m. Monday, also on nights of college functions.

For The Co-eds

Special rules applying to freshman co-eds are:

Wear cotton hose, one black and one white; no high heels; hair to be worn braided in two braids and tied with green ribbons.

Berets to be worn at all times except in classes.

Coal Operators Seek Solution On Production

Coal Operators May Reach Similar To That Of Oil Industry

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Coal operators are endeavoring to reach agreement on a production curtailment program, which may take a form similar to the oil conservation plan effected in the western states, President Hoover was advised Thursday.

William S. Bennet, vice president and general counsel of the Continental Coal Co., of Fairmont, W. Va., told the president the governors of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and Ohio have been asked to appoint an operators' committee of either three or five members to study the various plans to limit production. Two of the plans call for state curtailment and a third is based on the oil plan, attacking the problem from a conservation standpoint.

He expressed the opinion that the Sherman Anti-Trust law would not interfere with any agreement the operators might reach.

County To Send Many Delegates

Full Quota To Be Sent To State Sabbath School Conven- tion At Altoona

Sabbath School workers from Lawrence County seeking inspiration and instruction will represent Lawrence County at the 69th annual Convention of the Lawrence County School Association which is to be held in the Jaffa Mosque and adjoining churches, Altoona, Pa., October 14, 15, 16. This convention will be known as an "Unconventional convention" and the convention theme will be "Increase" taken from Isaiah 9:7 "Of the increase of his government and of peace there shall be no end."

Perhaps the outstanding speakers of the convention will be Bishop Welch of the M. E. church, Rev. P. K. Emmons, Dr. Wm. H. Foulkes, Dr. W. B. Greenway, Dr. Hugh S. Magill, Dr. Robt. M. Hopkins, Roy A. Burkhardt and others. There will be special sessions in the afternoon for the presentation of the best ways to do the best work in each of the major fields of Christian Education, as related to the following: workers with children, young people, adults, as pastors, as executives, as organization officers, in vacation schools, in week day religious education and in leadership training.

Slippery Rock District is to be represented by the district president, S. H. Shaw and wife and Rev. and Mrs. Greenlee of the Princeton Presbyterian church which is in the same district, have signified their intention of attending as delegates. Also the ladies Adult Class of the First Baptist Sabbath School voted to send their teacher, D. S. Williams, as a delegate.

H. L. Marvin is chairman of the committee to secure automobile loads of delegates from the various Sabbath School as delegates. The distance to Altoona is only 125 miles and Mr. Marvin expects to have the full quota of delegates assigned to the county attend. A number of adult classes of the county will be asked to have a representative as delegate at Altoona. The convention slogan is "Spend three happy, helpful days and a little money to increase all of your after life."

THE FORD is good-looking. It is safe. Comfortable. Speedy. Reliable. Long-lived. Economical. Everything a good car should be.

There is, too, an added something about it that brings enthusiastic comments from every one who has ever driven a Ford . . . the joy it puts in motoring.

"I have been a car owner continuously for nearly 20 years," writes a motorist connected with a leading university. "During this period I have bought eleven new automobiles. Eight of the eleven were in the middle-price field, one cost three thousand dollars, and the last is a Ford coupe that I purchased thirteen months ago.

"In the light of this experience I can say in all sincerity that I have derived more genuine satisfaction from the Ford than any car I ever owned. In saying this, I am thinking in terms of comfort, safety, driving pleasure, ease of control and economy. My next car will also be a Ford because it will give me what I want at a price I can afford to pay."

When you get behind the wheel of the Ford and drive it yourself you will know it is a truly remarkable car at a low price. You will like it when you first buy it. You will become more and more enthusiastic the longer you drive it.

The Ford is made to stand up. Time reveals what you cannot see at a glance

. . . the sincere quality built into every part. After thousands of miles of driving you will still say "it's a great car." You will be able to look back and figure that you have saved a great many dollars in operation cost, repairs and depreciation by buying a Ford.

Uncle Of Dominick Pagley Denies All Knowledge Of House Burning

SAYS HE WAS AWAY AT TIME OF FIRE

Admits Buying Gallon Of Cement, But Says It Was For Pagley Shoe Shop

Denial of all connection with the burning of Dominick Pagley's house on Highland avenue extension, was made by Harry Pagley, an uncle of Dominick's in the trial of the two men before Judge James A. Chambers in county court this morning.

Pagley said that he had lived in the house with his brother Louis Pagley, until the latter went to Italy last winter. Harry had continued to live in the house alone up until the time of the fire. Harry said that on the Tuesday preceding the fire, Dominick had been at the house looking for a paper.

On August 12th, the day before the fire Harry said that he had come down town in the morning. He was down town all day. In the evening he got into an automobile with Dominick, Joe and John Pagley and Dominick drove to Division street, where he and the boys got out.

Harry went to the home of Phillip Pagley where he had supper. After supper he went to a celebration at the Italian church. From there he went to Jim Petrucchi's on Division street. He remained there until about 10 o'clock, then went back to the celebration and later to the home of Phillip Pagley. It was raining and on that account Harry said that he decided not to go home and remained at Philip's all night.

He had breakfast with the family the next morning about 6:30 and then came up street to Dominick's shoe shop. It was there that he learned from one of the men that there had been an explosion and fire at the Dominick Pagley house, and that a man had been found dead in the house.

He and Dominick then went up to the house and looked it over, witness found that some of his clothing was gone. He said that he did not know Tony Spagnola, the dead man, and had never seen him, dead or alive.

Harry admitted that he had bought a gallon of cement at Knobloch's on the day preceding the fire. He had been sent for it and took it to Dominick's shop. He denied all knowledge of the fire.

Lorenzo Perotta of Montgomery avenue, father-in-law of Dominick Pagley testified that Dominick had come to his home on the evening of August 12th. He had supper and later came up town to have a prescription filled for his wife. He returned some time after 9 o'clock and went to bed. That night about 2 o'clock he was awakened and was told that a telephone message had come saying that Dominick's house was on fire. With Dominick and Mrs. Perotta, wife of the witness who drove to the scene of the fire.

Mrs. Perotta told according to a telephone call from Mrs. Arthur Lang about 2 a.m. of awakening Dominick, and of driving with him and her husband to the scene of the fire. She saw a dead man lying on a couch, but did not see his face as there was a sheet over him.

Mrs. Dominick Pagley testified that she had her tonsils removed on Saturday before the fire and was in bed when her husband came home on the evening of August 12th.

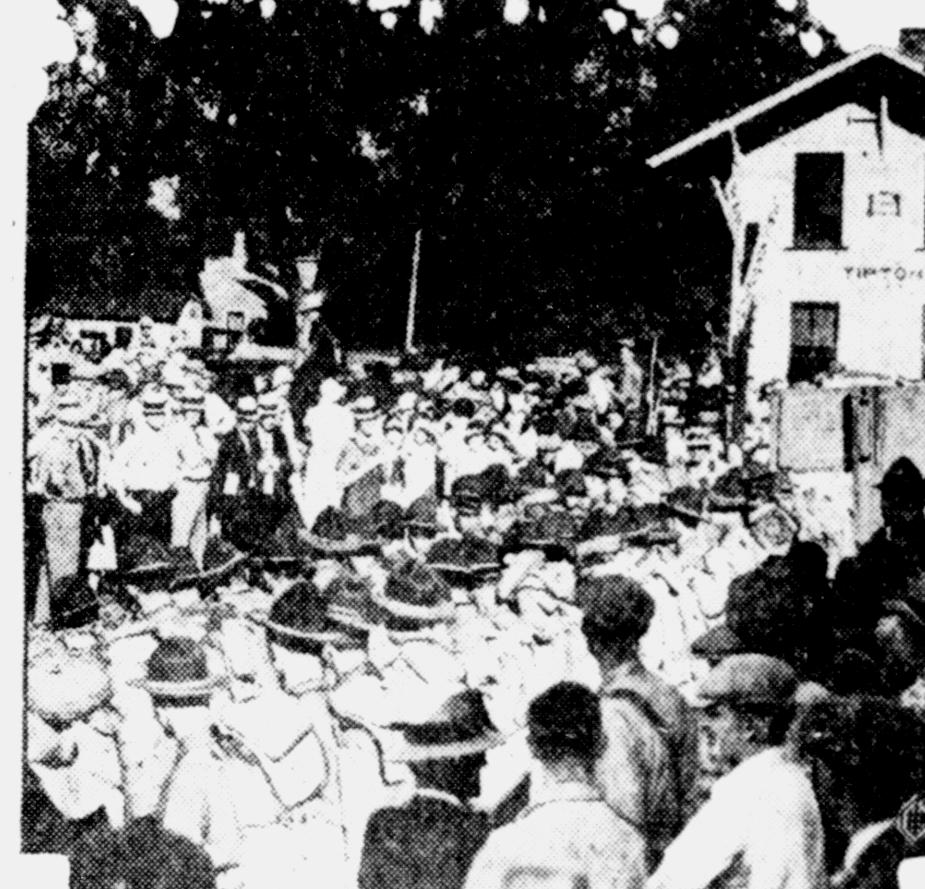

The doctor was there and left a prescription, which Dominick came up town to have filled. He returned shortly after 9 o'clock and went to bed with her. He was awakened about 2 a.m. and left with her parents for the scene of the fire.

The trio had planned to hold the physician for $50,000 ransom.

Soon there will be no need for navies. When all nations have a tariff wall, there will not be any foreign trade to protect.

Mr. Pagley said that on a Sunday about two weeks before the fire Peter Nocera, a husband of her cousin, had come to their home and asked Dominick if he would drive him to his home in Rochester. Mrs. Pagley and her husband took Peter to Rochester. They got out of the car, stayed about five minutes

On Iowa's Farm War "Front" Japanese Fliers Reported Active

National guardsmen of Iowa are shown as they fell into ranks on the platform of the railroad station in Tipton, Iowa, surrounded by farmers in rebellion against the bovine tuberculosis test law which the guardsmen are in Tipton to enforce. The troops were sent to the "front" in the county where President Hoover was born after a mob of 400 farmers had driven 65 officers and veterinarians from a farm where they tried to carry out the provisions of the law.

No Immediate Wage Reduction By Railroads

According to authorities, Landreis broke into the office of the Atlantic Refining Company, obtaining a revolver and a small sum in cash. He was arrested in a confectionery store where police alleged he was traced after entering the storage rooms of the National Biscuit Company, where a small sum in currency was taken.

International News Service
WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The railroads may eventually seek to reduce wages, but no move will be made in this direction until after the Interstate Commerce Commission gives its decision in the proposed 15 per cent freight rate case, it was learned from authoritative sources today. This decision is expected about Oct. 15.

If this ruling is unfavorable to the carriers, they may initiate proceedings to reduce the present wage levels. They cannot arbitrarily reduce wages as other industries can, but must proceed under the Railroad Labor Act approved in 1926, which sets up the board of mediation to handle all disputes between the railroads and their employees.

Under this law the carriers must give 30 days written notice of any intended change affecting rates of pay. If the roads and their employees cannot agree in conference then the matter must be submitted to arbitration. If this fails the board of mediation must notify the President of the United States, who will appoint a special emergency board.

After the creation of such board and for 30 days after it has made its report to the President, the act rules that no change, except by agreement, shall be made by the parties concerned.

Interdepartmental building committee will consider your site at its Monday meeting. Hopes are entertained site will be selected at that time.

COUNTRY CLUB, WILLIAMSVILLE, N.Y., Sept. 25.—Glenna Collett, five times American woman champion, and Helen "Bilie" Hicks, the sensational Long Island youngster, will meet here tomorrow for the American women's golfing championship.

Mrs. Vare won her semi-final match this morning, defeating Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, two up on the 18th hole.

Miss Hicks disposed of Enid Wilson, the British champion, two and one.

BANNER PRISON PAPER
(International News Service)

SAN QUENTIN, Calif.—One of the world's most unusual newspapers, "The Wall City News," edited and published by the inmates of San Quentin prison, was delivered to nearly 5000 cell-subscribers on the sixth anniversary of the convict publication. Ernest C. Eckhoff, 30, of Oakland, serving a seven year sentence, made his debut as editor. Warden James B. Holohan placed his approval on the newspaper and praised the work of the staffs.

three complete quake detecting mechanisms. They include a torsion device for local shocks, the old type needle machine for continental tremblings, and the new Gaultier galvanic system for tremors in any part of the world.

Located in an underground vault just a stone's throw from Mission Santa Clara, a tiny coil of copper wire suspended on a pendulum between two powerful magnets is the heart of the seismograph. When the earth's crust trembles, the vibrating pendulum sets up an electric current.

The current operates a galvanometer light beam which is reflected on a rotating drum of photographic paper and a jagged line represents the autographs of the quake.

Snowflakes She Saw Were Freak Of Nature

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 25.—It's snowing up here on the 17th floor of the Barlum Tower," an excited voice informed one of International News Service's reporters the other morning.

The ever skeptical reporter thought he was being kidded for when he looked out at the sky from his office he saw nothing but dull gray clouds and even heard the thunder punctuating the storm.

"And I'm not seeing things either," the informant seriously continued. "If you don't believe me just call the weather man and ask him about the season's first snow storm."

Norman B. Conger, the meteorologist, was called to verify the freak storm, but instead explained how a trick of light rays had caused the belief.

"There weren't any snowflakes," he said. "We don't have snow with the temperature at 65. What the woman saw was the light shining on the raindrops making them appear like snowflakes."

Reed Renews His Sales Tax Appeal

Says Nation Is Facing Matter Of Tax Increase Of Some Kind

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The American Government "should follow the British example and face the music," on the score of increased taxation to meet heavily increased Treasury demands growing out of the depression. Senator David A. Reed (R) of Pennsylvania declared today following a conference with President Hoover.

Reed would not commit himself to the possibility of a lateral increase in taxes. He said, however, "There should be some increase."

"Many of my colleagues do not agree with me," said the Senator. "They want to borrow the money. In my opinion, we have been borrowing long enough to meet the deficit."

He renewed his suggestion of a sales tax of one half of one per cent. Pulling a package of popular priced cigarettes from his pocket, he said:

"We are now paying a tax on these and nobody seems to complain. It doesn't seem to me that anyone should squeal about a tax of one half of one per cent."

Senator Reed deprecated the idea of a cut in congressional salaries. He said he thought that would tend to make seats in congress available only to the rich.

More Trained Dogs Will Guide Blind

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25.—With an aim of 600 police dogs to act as eyes for as many blind persons in the State of Pennsylvania, the State Council for the blind will co-operate with a national organization in an educational program for this state of an intensive nature over a period of two or three years in an effort to attain such an objective. There are now fourteen dogs of this type which have been trained to blind men and women in the State.

Two years ago the State Council for the Blind of the State Department of Welfare sponsored a class at which five dogs were trained to blind persons and later at classes in surrounding States, nine more persons were trained for the dogs. The work of the dogs has been so successful that the demands is growing and while the class held in Harrisburg two years ago was only the third held in this country, many have been conducted since that time.

The society for the promotion of the dog guides is under the direction of Morris S. Frank, who recently was appointed to the staff of the Governor of Tennessee in recognition of the work he has accomplished in this direction. The organization provides the dogs and instructors for the classes. The dogs are already trained to the work but must be trained in a three weeks course to the new owners.

The program which will be instituted in Pennsylvania for the drive to provide 600 persons with these dogs will center largely in communities where there is established, organized work for the blind. There are, however, points where such work has not yet been established which will be included in the program.

The estimated number of dogs which could be used in this State is based upon actual performance of the dogs in Europe where the movement first started for blind veterans of the World War and upon the reported success of the comparatively few dogs, which have been working in this country.

Washington To Be Dramatized For Celebration

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—An original play, based on the life of George Washington, and comparable in its art to John Drinkwater's famous Lincoln drama, is to be performed in Washington next year as part of the Washington bicentennial celebration.

Written especially for the occasion, this play or plays is to embody a conception of Washington as a dynamic character who transformed the world in which he lived.

Two of the most illustrious American dramatists whose plays have been produced in this country and abroad by the most noted stars of the theatrical world have advised Arnold Kruckman, who is in charge of the District of Columbia bicentennial commission, of their intention of writing the drama.

Charlton Andrews, New York playwright, author of "A Parfit Gentle Knight," "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," "The Golden Age," and many other popular stage successes and books on playwriting; and Paul Kester, noted Virginia writer, who has written half a hundred plays, many of which were produced by Julia Marlowe and E. H. Sothern, have advised that they are making studies for a vivid Washington drama.

Among the latter's stage successes is the popular "When Knighthood Was in Flower."

The commission is planning to enlist the finest talent of the American stage for the performance of these producers. Already a number of prominent actors and actresses have volunteered their services to Mr. Kruckman.

Each of these two playwrights separately conceived the idea of a moving Washington drama for performance during the bicentennial celebration, and each of the plays will probably be performed here under the auspices of the commission.

The commission emphasizes the fact that the writing of the two plays by different authors is in no sense a competition between the two.

Keeps Young By Digging Garden

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 25.—George Johnson, "youthful" octogenarian, literally dug his way to health and longevity, and he's still digging, he said.

The 80-year-old employee of a local insurance company, who has been reporting to the same boss for 43 years, maintains that digging in the garden when he was young made him strong, and keeps him young now that he is old.

Digging in the garden, providing you like it, and keep at it, will make any one young and strong," declared Johnson. He sat at his desk, erect, alert. Even the blue eyes behind their gold-rimmed spectacles were young.

"When I was a boy, I was puny and weak, until I got out into the garden and started 'scratching,'" he continued. "I've always loved that form of exercise, and I still do. It has become a part of my life."

Ohio's Oldest M. E. Pastor Dies At 85

URBANA, O., Sept. 25.—Dr. Frank G. Mitchell, aged 85, athlete, civil war veteran and 51 years a pastor in the Methodist Episcopal church, died at his home here yesterday.

At the time of his death, Dr. Mitchell was the oldest member of the Ohio Methodist Episcopal conference. He retired from the pulpit 20 years ago.

He organized Ohio Wesleyan university's first baseball team and in recognition of that service was awarded a varsity sweater by the university eight years.

He was a 33rd degree Mason and formerly grand chaplain of the Ohio Masonic organization, chaplain for seven years at the National Military Home at Sandusky, and superintendent of the Springfield district of his church.

What Price Glory?

Like pretty babies, the Chief-of-Staff of the U. S. Army evidently must submit to smackers whether he enjoys the unique experience or not. Minister of War A. Migot of France is shown embracing Major General Douglas MacArthur, chief of the American army, following presentation to the latter of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor at Rheims.

The program which will be instituted in Pennsylvania for the drive to provide 600 persons with these dogs will center largely in communities where there is established, organized work for the blind. Accident Odds Are Against "Cut In" Auto Drivers

Chances Are One To Ten You Will Smash Up, Figures Show

HARRISBURG—An analysis of 33,000 automobile accidents occurring in 1930 in Pennsylvania shows that odds in favor of an accident of the type known as "cutting in" are one to ten, Walter W. Matthews, Chief of the Safety Division of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles finds.

That is, according to Matthews, if a driver is going to have any kind of an accident (and one out of every 125 cars does) the chances are one to ten that "cutting in" will be the cause. Operators given to this kind of driving may be interested in knowing that the odds in favor of it proving fatal are one in forty-two, he says.

Running off the road, driving on the wrong side and many cases of collision with fixed objects are all products of passing bureau records show. Usually, the operator reports he gave no thought to the possibilities of accident.

POWER PROJECT IN CANADA IS AN OLD STORY

OTTAWA—The Beauharnois power project, involving a monopoly on the swift waters of the St. Lawrence river and the potential millions of horse power imprisoned in it, is an old story in Canada. It goes back, in fact, to the year 1800, when the Sieu de Beauharnois built a mill on the St. Lawrence river, and later constructed a "feeder" from Lake St. Francis to the mouth of the stream.

From that feeder, built by the far-seeing Seigneur of Beauharnois, has come a modern development involving corporations and government in a tangle of contracts, money payments and charge of misuse of funds unparalleled in Canadian history.

R. O. Sweezy, an engineer of wide capabilities, and one who has no hesitation in voicing his belief that political influence is essential to any great understanding, is the head of the Beauharnois Syndicate and the genius behind the proposed development of the power project.

TO CHOP WOOD FOR POOR YONKERS, N. Y.—The need of this city will be kept warm during the coming winter partly through the gift of wood which the Public Works Commission is getting from a wooded section on the outskirts of the town. A chopping crew has been put to work and the wood from the trees cut down is being stored. It will be given out to applicants approved by the Industrial Aid Bureau.

Show Interest In Vocational Work

HARRISBURG, Sept. 21.—The general economic depression seems to have had no effect upon the 5000 farm boys who have been enrolled in vocational agricultural work during the past season, according to officials of the Department of Public Instruction. Almost a thousand of the boys attended the recent annual judging contests held at State College. This was an increase of 30 per cent in attendance over previous years.

$10,000 TO RIDE "MIDNIGHT"

(International News Service)
CHEYENNE, Wyo.—A thousand dollars a second! Elliott and McCarthy of Cheywater Wyo., owners of Midnight, veteran bronco, will pay this amount to Fred Studnicka or any other rodeo hand who can stay with their horse for 10 seconds. Reports reached here recently that Studnicka had ridden Midnight at the Pendleton, Ore., rodeo. The owners insist that neither Studnicka nor any other rider has ever ridden Midnight the ten seconds usually required in broncho-riding contests.

Tenancy On Farms Of U. S. Is On The Increase, As Shown By Census

Germany's Garbo

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Tenancy on the farms in the United States increased to 42.4 per cent of all farmers in 1930 as compared with 38.6 per cent in 1925 and 38.1 per cent in 1920, according to an analysis of census reports announced by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Increases in tenancy between 1925 and 1930 occurred in 41 States; decreases in 6 States; in South Carolina there was no change.

In 1930, when the first statistical study of farm tenancy was made, 25.6 per cent of the farmers were tenants, in 1900, 35.3 per cent were tenants, and in 1920, 38.1 per cent.

The States with decreased tenancy were Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Delaware on the Atlantic seaboard, and Arizona in the West. The downward tendency in the eastern five of these States between 1925 and 1930 is a continuation of a trend which set in following 1920.

The 1930 percentage was less than half that of 1900 in Connecticut, and only a little more than half that of 1900 in New York and New Jersey.

Mississippi continues to lead in the percentage of its farmers who are tenants. In 1930 this percentage was 72.1, in 1925 it was 68.2, in 1910 and 1920 it was 66. All other States in which more than half of the farmers were tenants in 1930 were in the South: Georgia, 68.2 per cent; Louisiana, 66.6; South Carolina, 65.1; Alabama, 64.6; Arkansas, 63; Oklahoma, 61.4; and Texas, 60.9.

In none of the North Central States percentages of tenancy were Iowa, 47.3; Nebraska, 47.1; South Dakota, 44.6; Illinois, 43.1; Kansas, 42.4; North Dakota, 35.1; Missouri, 34.8; Minnesota, 31.1; Indiana, 30; Ohio, 26.2; Wisconsin, 18.2; Michigan, 15.4.

Proves Mystery

Pottery Constructed By Prehistoric People Is Well Preserved

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—American archeologists are attaching much importance to pottery and the ruins of a sacred well which were discovered by the Field Museum archeological expedition at the Lowry Ruin near Aztec, Colo.

The pottery and well were constructed by the prehistoric American Indians whose origin and migration are veiled in mystery.

Reporting the progress made in the excavations, Dr. Paul S. Martin, an assistant curator of the museum staff, wrote:

"It would seem now as if this ruin is quite out of place geographically since it is undoubtedly the work of Chaco Canyon people who lived hundreds of miles south and east of the Lowry Ruin. The pottery types found at this Ruin are unlike anything here in the neighborhood and belong also to the Chaco types. We found in a small passageway a cache of seventeen pieces of pottery, most of them complete."

"A test trench through the great kiva or temple has just been finished. The walls, floors and other remains are highly interesting although very puzzling."

Another noteworthy discovery, Dr. Martin wrote, was a sacred well which had been timbered and cribbed with cedar logs in prehistoric times. This seems to have served as a sort of sanctuary, for in the water at the bottom were found ten pieces of pottery and more than forty wooden prayer sticks very similar to those used by the Hopi. These offerings had been perfectly preserved by the water.

Inquest Puzzle Over
Man Dead Years Ago

(International News Service)
AVONMOUTH, Eng., Sept. 25.—The man has only been dead for a few hundred, or maybe a few thousand years, but his skeleton, found in a bed of clay 20 feet below the surface here, has been given a place in the local morgue while county officials try to decide whether to hold an inquest.

Some who cannot understand the coroner's indecision suggest that he consult precedent and see if his fellow-countrymen held an inquest over the Piltdown man, or if autopsies were held over the Java ape-man, or the Peking man. In case of an inquest, it is suggested, the jury's verdict should be "death" was caused by prolonging interment."

Experts will study the skeleton to determine if it has any anthropological importance. The nature of the clay makes it apparent that the skeleton had not been disturbed for a very long period. All of the skeleton but a portion of the left leg was found.

NATIVE TONGUE OF SWISS
(International News Service)
GENEVA—"Romanche" is the fourth official language in Switzerland and will be regarded as the only really native tongue of this mountainous country. It is spoken mainly in the Canton of Grisons and the Engadine, but the Canton of Geneva has recently decided to create a special chair at its University for furthering the study and use of this language. It is of romance origin and believed to have been the original tongue of the fugitive Tuscan, who settled in the land at the time of the first Roman emperors.

• 52 Million Acres Burned By Forest Fires In 1930

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 25.—Forest fires in the United States last year swept over a total of more than 52 million acres—an area greater than the States of Ohio and Indiana combined—according to the annual summary of fire statistics made public today by the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

Organized protection strikingly proved its effectiveness in keeping down forest fire losses, according to the Forest Service figures. For every acre of protected land burned over, approximately eight acres of unprotected land were swept by fire, although only one-third of the forest land of the country is now without some form of organized protection.

The total area of protected land burned over during the year was 5,809,320 acres, but 46,457,140 acres of unprotected land suffered from fire.

Of the protected forests the area burned was less than 1% per cent.

In the continental United States, 607,920,930 acres of land are listed as needing fire protection. Of this total area 399,154,870 acres are receiving some degree of organized protection, although much of it is inadequate as yet.

The first summary, compiled by the United States Forest Service from data furnished by cooperating States and National Forest Supervisors, showed 190,920 forest fires in the United States during the year 1930. Of these 70,832 occurred on protected lands and 120,148 on unprotected areas. Figures for unprotected areas are necessarily inexact.

Careless smokers were responsible for more fires and greater losses than any other cause. On protected areas, for which reports are more complete, smokers caused 17,460 forest fires, or more than 20 per cent of all the fires reported. In the last five years, deliberate woods burning and incendiaries has been responsible for 17 per cent of the fires.

Right Foods Discourage Candy Eater

Children Must Have Sweets, Says Dr. Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A young friend of mine, who will probably be a great business man, but who, according to his father, will probably never be much of a scholar, was found to be conducting the following commercial operations:

When he left home for school he would stop at the drug store and buy a dollar's worth of candy bars. These he would keep in a shoe box well concealed until about 11 o'clock in the morning. About this time, as he learned by experience, the pangs of hunger began to assail his fellow savants. Under these circumstances, small wads of paper containing nickels or dimes began to be passed surreptitiously to his desk. In return for the proper amount (always profit) he would send a candy bar back, by the underground railway of all schoolrooms, to his customers.

Occasionally making some excuse, he would drift down an aisle, with the shoe box held before him delivering his wares in return for the somewhat advanced price his ingenuity entitled him to.

At the time his activities were discovered and interrupted his income was slightly more per week than his teacher's. The discovery of his activities was due largely to the fact that the scholars in his particular room took little or no interest in lunch.

The anecdote brings up one of the most pressing problems of the school child—and candy and candy bars and the corner drug store and school lunches.

Of course, candy spoils lunches and it is a very poor substitute for lunch. It depresses the secretions of the stomach. But a young organism needs sugar, and if it does not get it in the regular way in the form of desserts and jam and a judicious amount of candy or sugar after the meal, it is going to get it some way as certainly as a thirsty man is going to get water.

Last month in my California backyard a friend and I were watching a humming bird going his round from flower to flower. Hovering in the air, his wings beat at a rate so fast that they became mere blurs. My friend, who is a physician and one of the greatest experts on nutrition in the world, said:

"That little fellow must get an awful lot of sugar in a quickly assimilable form in order to move those wings so fast."

It was an instinctive remark, born out of deep knowledge of the subject. Of course, the humming bird gets most sugar in an easily assimilable form—in the form of honey or nectar from the flowers.

Young human organisms are the same way. Green vegetables alone are not sufficient diet for them. Green vegetables yield up their sugar and starch too slowly. The child knows this instinctively and that is why it wants candy bars. When it gets older its appetite for candy is easy to restrict. You don't have to keep pecking at Uncle Henry to keep his hands out of the candy box.

Now I do not want to be misunderstood as saying that the child should eat candy for lunch, or that it should have plenty of money to spend at the corner drug store. But I do say that the way to fight the tendency to eat candy out of hours is to give the child enough sugar at proper times.

Motor Clubs May Aid In Move To Promote Safety

Dynon Asks Organizations To Help Protect Human Lives

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25.—A statewide appeal to motor organizations to cooperate with the bureau of motor vehicles of the department of revenue in promoting safety has been made in a circular sent to all such organizations. The appeal is signed by Benjamin G. Dynon, commissioner of motor vehicles.

The organizations are requested to ask members to conduct their own motor vehicle inspection campaign this fall instead of the official compulsory campaign that has been abandoned until after the first of the year. This latter action was taken by the state because of the rigid requirements applicants for appointment as official inspection stations under the amended vehicle code will have to meet.

After reciting the need for voluntary mechanical inspection, the appeal concludes as follows: "Will you help by the circulation of publicity through the activities of your organization? Motor organizations exist for the protection of motorists' interests—is there any greater interest a motorist can have than the protection of his life and property?"

Applicants for appointments as official inspection stations are being required not only to give written answers to a searching list of questions formulated by the bureau but also proof of the correctness of their answers. This latter is achieved by a personal inspection of the prospective station by representatives of the department. More than 1800 applications for appointment have been received by the department.

Inspection Standards.

In the questionnaire sent garage and automobile repair shop owners made public today by the bureau, the former are asked if they have the facilities and mechanics to inspect and service all types of brakes; to inspect, adjust and service lighting equipment; to inspect, adjust and repair steering mechanisms; to inspect, repair or replace horns, mirrors and windshield wipers and to register plates properly.

The department wants to know the number of mechanics qualified to service brakes, lighting equipment and steering mechanisms. It also asks the total number of mechanics employed irrespective of helpers and washers, and if the garage or repair shop has proper tools and equipment for repairing inspected motor vehicles.

Owners must state what means they use to determine braking efficiency and stopping distances, and how they will inspect and adjust headlamps. The department also wants to know if such testing will be done indoors and if the repair shop is equipped with a 40-foot space for screen tests. Owners must state how many motor vehicles their space and facilities will permit them to service at one time, and also the space available for inspections and repairs. The population of the community served is desired and also how many vehicles the owner estimates he will inspect.

Fleet owners applying for appointment are asked if they have a permanent service station, how many vehicles and their type are registered in the name of the company, and will the entire fleet be inspected at one station. Appointment of fleet owners will be determined by the size of the fleet.

Successful applicants are asked to pledge themselves to conduct honest, thorough and efficient inspections in accordance with the vehicle code and department instructions.

Sailor Claims Credit For Screen Fly Swatter

ASHLAND, Wis., Sept. 25.—Although he never made a cent of profit from it, William Laser, 64-year-old retired sailor, is generally recognized as the originator of the screen fly swatter.

It was in 1896 that the sailor's friends claim he originated the fly swatter idea. They tell how he wished to kill flies upon a window pane. Laser picked up a piece of screening and brushed it against the screen.

Viewing the casualties, he conceived the idea of attaching a handle to the screen.

The sailor made several swatters for his friends and even tried to borrow money for a patent. But his friends and even his wife were so skeptical that he gave up the idea.

The name of this organization is Progressive Texans Inc. Behind it are three of the largest chambers of commerce in the world—the West Texas, East Texas and South Texas chambers, each equivalent to the usual state chamber, and the West Texas chamber is the nation's largest, in point of territory covered.

These organizations naturally include some of the Texas' richest citizens, and these citizens formed Progressive Texans. At its head is John L. Carpenter, president of the dominant north Texas utility, Texas Power and Light corporation. A manufacturer, Charles R. Tipton of Three Rivers, was drafted as organization manager. The organization, under his direction, has embarked upon the first phase of its task, to enlist manufacturers and industries in its campaign.

An agricultural background is needed to understand the inception of Progressive Texans.

The "money crop" of Texas is cotton. But Texas soils are so diverse that many other products are produced—wheat, rice, peanuts, sweet potatoes, citrus—in quantities sufficient to have a distinct bearing on the world's markets.

Texas' agricultural growth has been mushroom-like. In 1880 fifteen years ago, the value of all Texas farm products was approximately $42,000,000. In 1930 the sum was well over a billion dollars.

And industry has not kept pace.

As it stands there is not balance there is not stability. It was to achieve this stability, by pointing out

Texas' advantages as a manufacturing state, that Progressive Texans was organized.

It hopes to achieve its objectives

by a sustained advertising campanaign, using every medium, principally the newspapers, and obtaining the cooperation of every manufacturer and every retailer in the state. Launching of the campaign awaits the completion of premiminary organization.

Meanwhile the entire south looks to the success of the Texas plan for the entire south, it is pointed out, is comparable to Texas in the lack of balance between agriculture and industry. At Governor Ross

Sterling's recent Southern States

Cotton conference here, Progressive

Texans was recommended to every state in the south as a model well worth emulation in the fight to lift the nation out of the sloughs of depression.

New Castle Plays McKees Rocks Tonight

NEW CASTLE OUT FOR SECOND WIN

Red And Black Eleven Encounters New Foe Tonight—Coach Phil Bridenbaugh May Shift Lineup—Surdock All W. P. I. A. L. Halfback In 1930 Plays Here—New Castle Ends Practice Thursday—John Uram To Play Quarterback—Ostrosky, Rambo, And Komic May Start For Locals—Game Starts At 8:00 O'Clock.

McKees Rocks high school, a new foe on the New Castle high football schedule battles the local Red and Black eleven tonight under the floodlights at Taggart Field in the second game of the season. The game starts promptly at 8:00 o'clock.

With several stars from last season's eleven which was one of the outstanding gridiron combinations in quest of the W. P. I. A. L. title, McKees Rocks comes here with a strong eleven. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh following Thursday's final workout announced that he may change his lineup.

Uram At Quarterback

One of the changes on the lineup will be John Uram at quarterback instead of William McIver. "Mac" barked the signals in the opening game of the season. Uram who was injected into the fray early in the game ran wild, scoring three touchdowns against Coraopolis. During the workouts this week Coach Bridenbaugh shifted Uram from half to quarter. McIver was shifted to halfback. Unless a last minute change occurs, Uram will be used at quarterback and McIver will play halfback.

Thomas Rambo and Komic two youthful grididers who have been fighting hard for a varsity berth may get a chance to start. Rambo may replace Reynolds at half and Komic may start at fullback. Ostrosky at right end may be another choice.

The remainder of the lineup will be the same as that which started the season against Coraopolis. New Castle may resort to the forward pass tonight in hope of winning over the Smoky City district eleven. The local grididers have been drilling on the aerial attack throughout the week.

The local line has shown much improvement during the week. With a line that can clear the way for the backfield, New Castle should progress this season. The backfield men demonstrated in the season opener that they do not lack speed. The local forward wall cut wide swaths through the Coraopolis team which resulted in long runs.

Visitors Have Stars

McKees Rocks with a team averaging about 150 pounds is expected to give the locals plenty of opposition. The visitors have several stars from last season who will be seen in action. Surdock all W. P. I. A. L. backfield man in 1930 will play. His playing last season thrilled fans.

Cabin, Daley and Sowiski on the line are outstanding players for the visitors. Janecek at halfback is another fast backfield man who will have to be watched. With nearly one month's preparation for this game McKees Rocks comes here in good early season condition. This is the first time McKees Rocks battled here.

Golfers Start Play For Title

Gilliland, Long And Trainer Tee Off Today On First 18 Holes

CONTINUE TOURNEY SATURDAY—MONDAY

M. K. Gilliland, champion of the Municipal course, George Trainer, title holder of Castle Hills, and Bill Long, kingbee of the New Castle Field Club course started off at two o'clock this afternoon in the first 18 holes of a tourney which will produce the city champion for 1931.

The trio started at the New Castle Field Club and Saturday at two o'clock will play the second 18 holes at Castle Hills. The tournament will end Monday when the last 18 holes are played on the Municipal links and the golfer having the lowest total score will be crowned champion.

Gilliland won the title by beating Hackett Kennedy at the Municipal course and Bill Long conquered George Trainer at the Field Club. He came back to a champion's throne by taking over McKee at Castle Hills. The tourney has produced considerable interest in golf circles here.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner stated that the game starts at 8:00 o'clock tonight. Advance sale of tickets indicates that the stadium will be packed tonight. Additional 25 cent bleachers seats have been added on the south end of the playing field.

Grid League Is Formed Thursday

Hope To Have Fast Eight Team Independent Grid League Here

Eight teams will be asked to join the Independent Grid League which was organized here last night. Six teams were present last evening for the initial meeting of the season. The meeting was held at Sears, Roebuck and Company store with Tully Caiazzo in charge.

The following teams were represented: Williams A. C. De Hart A. C., South Side Merchants, Highland A. C., Sacred Hearts and Croton A. C., and it is the hope of the officials that two more teams can be secured.

It is planned to have two leagues with the winners meeting each other for the championship. The next meeting is at 7 o'clock next Tuesday evening.

WESTMINSTER READY FOR OPENING CLASH WITH SLIPPERY ROCK

Six New Men To Appear In Starting Lineup Of Titans Saturday

Sillman To Direct Team At Quarter—Shaffer At Right Half

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 25.—Coach John Lawther's Westminster College football team is ready to open the season here tomorrow afternoon with Coach Thompson's Slippery Rock State Teachers College. The game will start at 2:30. Lawther waited until the last minute to decide upon his starting lineup because of the fact that a number of the new men have been showing improved form and were threatening the positions which were practically decided a week ago.

Slippery Rock

Art Sillman, New Castle lad, has been given the job of running the team from the quarterback post. The former New Castle high star was unable to scrimmage much this week due to the fact that an ailing tooth had to be pulled, but is in fine shape for the opener.

Six new men will be on the starting lineup for the Titans. They are Hunneke and Helmick at end, Franklin at guard, Leyshock at center, Sillman at quarter, and Staples at fullback.

Slippery Rock will outweigh the Titan line about eight pounds per man, and the Teacher backfield will have a weight advantage of about six pounds per man. Lawther is counting on speed to offset this weight advantage.

The probable starting lineups:

Westminster	— Slippery Rock
Hunneke	L.E. Studebaker
Dishong	L.T. ... Miles (C)
Franklin	L.G. Capozzuti
Leyshock	C. Pearson
Rehfuß (C)	P.G. Mozotta
R.T. ... Kamora	R.E. ... Meals
Harper	Q.B. ... Benz
L.H. ... Martin	R.H. ... Kettner
Shaffer	F.B. ... Kerr
Staples	... Cataio

According to reports from Johnstown, Pa., Willie Davies, the marvel of Charleroi won the decision from Ross Fields, Wierton, W. Va., who recently knocked out Mickey Barron in Cleveland. Ross passed through the city a few days ago and was hopeful of turning the decision against the Charleroi boxer. Davies experience evidently stood him in good against the southpaw, who, despite last night's defeat is fast becoming recognized as one of the best flyweights in this section. Franklin Lewis of the Cleveland Press is one who puts that category.

Glenella Collett Vare and Enid Wilson reached the semi-finals of the U. S. women's championship yesterday in company with Helen Hicks of New York, and Virginia Van Wie of Chicago on the "Buff" C. club links at Williamsburg, N. Y. Miss Van Wie won in the quarterfinals against Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J. 2 and 3. Mrs. Vare beat Mrs. Leo Federman, New York, 5 and 4. Miss Wilson scored over Marjorie Kerr, her countrywoman 4 and 3 and Helen Hicks eliminated Miss Leona Presler of San Gabriel 4 and 2. Miss Van Wie meets Mrs. Vare and Miss Wilson engages Mrs. Hicks in the semi-final matches today.

the place of Jack Sharkey against Primo Carnera, October 1. Arthur Shauke, first baseman of the Milwaukee Brewers will be out of the game several days owing to a collision with Clyde Manion, both of whom chased a foul.... Worthy Wood won the forty third renewal of the Transylvanian trot at the Grand circuit track Lexington, Ky., yesterday. Peter Patch, star stake trotter, suffering from a slight lameness broke in each heat.... Mickey Dore of Johnstown will fight Eddie Koppy of Detroit tonight in Cleveland and Primo Ubaldi and Patsy Pirrone light-heavyweights will clasp tangle.

Marcellas To Have Big Weiner Roast

The Marcellas 1931 champions of the Class B Musball League will hold their first big weiner roast at New Bedford, Pa., Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock. This will be the first outing for the Marcellas and they are planning a bangup time.

The following will attend the weiner roast—Frank Isabella, Louis Mastrangelo, Tex Richards, Mike DeCarlo, Tip Richards, Robert Palus, Louis Pasarella, Bob Pasarella, Sam Campoli, Tony Aceto, Fred Marcella, Yanks Marcella.

The toastmaster of the evening will be "Tip" Richards, while "Tex" Richards as captain of the team has handled the affairs of the event very nicely. Louis Pasarella manager of the team has piloted the team very nicely. He hopes to have an even faster team next year. Isabella, L. Pasarella, Tex Richards, Tip Richards, Augustine and Palus have shown up well in the games. Bob Pasarella and Campoli have added strength to the Marcellas.

This is the first year for the Marcellas in musball and they have compiled a very enviable record.

English Golf Invasion

When the titular contest between the Shenango and Universal in the past the players of Shenango and Scarazzo outfits will look forward to October 10, when they will clash in a charity game at Centennial field. Jewie Coen is one ace almost certain to get into the game and Paul McCullough is the other. Jewie has had minor baseball league experience and Paul for a time was with the Senators. Before he had been with Toledo, went to Minneapolis and came home rather than go to a southern team. Within a few days the committee which will be in charge of the venture will start whooping the disposal of pastebards and an effort is to be made to make the game one of the biggest attended baseball games in the history of the city.

Jackie Wilson, promising youngster of Pittsburgh was sacrificed last night when he was knocked out by Johnny Datto in three chapters. Wilson went along for two rounds but once Datto's murderous right found the mark the curtain descended upon the colored boy. A stinging left staggered Wilson and sent him reeling to the floor. He got up at six in position to be nailed with a right. Datto staged a cagey fight, leaving Wilson to box around him in the first two rounds. Datto attempted only an occasional swing and was content to play the foxy game until the third. The fight was staged at Pittsburgh.

According to reports from Johnstown, Pa., Willie Davies, the marvel of Charleroi won the decision from Ross Fields, Wierton, W. Va., who recently knocked out Mickey Barron in Cleveland. Ross passed through the city a few days ago and was hopeful of turning the decision against the Charleroi boxer. Geneva-St. Francis To Battle Tonight

International News Service Writer.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Sept. 25—Alabama's crimson football tide, the surging wave of bone and muscle, by sheer power engulfed all opponents last year, this season will be a swifter running, shifftide. This is on the word of 'Bama's new head coach, Frank Thomas.

"The Notre Dame style of attack will be used entirely at 'Bama this year," Thomas, a former Notre Dame star, told International News Service recently. "The outstanding features of this offense are speed and deception in place of the driving and less deceptive attack which has been employed here for eight years."

A football team with Alabama's bone-crushing driving power, yet possessing the speed and deception of Notre Dame's famed shift attack; this was the "perfect" eleven visioned by followers of the two teams after the 1930 season through which both proceeded undefeated. And now, oddly enough, an experiment which 'Bama' followers hope will produce another super team if not the "perfect" one is being conducted here with picturesqueness Denny Field as the laboratory. For 'Bama's football has "gone Notre Dame."

If the 13 lettermen returning from Wade's juggernaut of 1930, and who form the nucleus of Thomas' 1931 team, can bring with them the power of the old 'Bama system and assimilate the intricacies of the Notre Dame shift, which produces the speediest and most deceptive of all attacks, the Southern conference will need to look around for a new champion, experts are agreed.

Fans all over the nation will be watching with particular interest this season the progress of these soft-spoken southern lads who play such a hard game of football. For coincidentally, Alabama, the only formidable rival of Rockne's 1930 wonder team, also is facing the new season with a new pilot. An airplane accident robbed Notre Dame of the great coach who, year after year, had been turning out super-elevens. A more attractive contract from Duke university lured Wallace Wade away from Alabama.

The dreadful Sharkey man, with his unaccountable failures and his periodic flashes of brilliance, has kept the heavyweight division in an uproar for several years. Yesterday he was the storm center of a controversy which waxed so acrimonious that the Carnera fight almost was called off entirely.

Stormy Scenes.

The scene was the office of the New York boxing commission. Sharkey said he couldn't fight Carnera until October 12 because his left hand was swollen. Leon See, the Italian's manager, said the fight would be held on the 12th, first as originally scheduled, or not at all. The commission threatened to ditch the fight altogether. Promoter James Jabbering Johnston, with a $40,000 advance sale in his pocket, cursed under his breath and almost tore his wig off.

Finally everything was fixed up sweet and lovely—and then Sharkey became perversely contrary.

Sharkey Contrary.

"I don't believe there will be any fight at all," he calmly told newspapermen. "I'll be there, but that Canary feller will take a run-out powder."

M. Leon See waxed apoplectic in his indignant denial. He promised that the magnificent Primo would be there on the 12th for one and all to see. And each fighter was ordered to post $5,000 forfeit today to insure the match.

Dr. Dickey, home from explorations in the Brazilian jungle, introduced one novelty; he refused to compare traffic conditions in the jungle with those at Fifth avenue and Forty-second street—New York Sun.

Teams Primed For Title Go

Shenango-Universals Play

For County League Sandlot Title Saturday

GAME WILL START AT 3:00 O'CLOCK

Reported to be primed for their meeting, the Shenango Pottery baseball club and the Universal Sanitary aggregation will battle for the Lawrence County League sandlot title Saturday at Centennial Field at 3:00 o'clock. In the preliminary game the Marcellas and Lockley mushball team will play in the second game of a series to decide the New Castle champs. The prelim starts at 1:30 o'clock. This series which has proven to be the fastest in a number of years is expected to culminate with a fast game. The Shenangos hope to win their third straight over the Universals who started off like a whirlwind taking the first two contests. The Universals needed one more win to top the title.

Wylie Shiek and Mike Diffley, University stars, who left for the University of Michigan last week, returned late this morning from Ann Arbor, Mich., to participate in the game. It was reported that these two players would be out of the game. They secured a leave of absence to play in the title go. Shiek will likely pitch and Diffley will catch.

The Shenango team with Paul McCullough former Minneapolis hurler and Smolnik who is undefeated for the season have two good hurdlers. It is probable that McCullough who has defeated the Universals twice so far will hurl. Shiek will catch.

Redman and Huston who have been hitting the pill hard for the Universals are the hopes of the Universals. General who has failed to hit his stride may come through Saturday. The Shenangos with a hitting crew like Sank and Paul McCullough, Lefty Masiy, Russo Glasser and Scaglione have hard starters.

Announce Umpires.

The two teams competing for the title have played good baseball. Only a few errors on the part of both teams have been credited to the umpires for the title go. They are Ben Price, behind the plate; Joseph Diana at first base; Bert Price at the second bag and Jim Dunn at the hot corner.

Due to the fact that the title of the league will be at stake the biggest crowd to watch any contest in the series is expected to hit its way to Centennial Field for the encounter. To date some 12,000 or more fans have watched the four games.

The winner of the Lawrence County League title will play the Beaver mine, which captured the Beaver county title.

In the preliminary game the Marcellas and Lockleys will play in the second game of the New Castle mushball title series. This set off at 1:30 o'clock. The feature game commences at 3:00 o'clock.

The probable lineup as announced by Carm Sacco, manager of the Shenango team and Clem General of the Universal team follows:

Shenango—Schoe, 2b; Glasser, 1b;

McCullough, 3b; Russo, cf; P. McCullough, p or 1b; Maslyk, rf; Scaglione, c; J. Shiek, 1b; Fruitt, ss.

Universals—Culbertson, rf; Rodgers, cf; Houston, 2b or p; Summers, 1b; Diffley, c; McConahay, 3b; George, 1b; Jones, cf or 2b; Coates or Valdely, p; Shiek, p.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

A couple more nights like last night and the tomato crop will be folding up like an egg crate, the cukes will be done and the frost will be on the well known punkin. And the golf players will be turning their thoughts to volley ball and snow shovels.

Just at the moment, approximately 89 per cent of the population between the ages of six and 96 are giving some little attention to football. When the mornings get chilly and there's an edge on the great outdoors, when the car begins to protest about starting in the morning, and the coal man begins to get friendly, that's the time when the football germ begins to get in its work.

And another thing. Last night marked the finish of the straw hat season. Officially it ended on September 15, but there's been a lot of straw hat weather since then. Last night finished it and you can wrap your straw in cellophane until May 15.

One of the last minute straw hats got riled yesterday at the lunch table. Somebody asked him why he was wearing his straw hat yet and he replied that it was next year's straw he was wearing.

Every time we ride past the entrance to the Municipal golf course they seem to have added a touch to the entrance. The ground around the pillars has been beautified, and in a few years that entrance will look like the roadway into somebody's estate. And the expense of it came from the profits of the golf course, not from taxes.

The matter of the pollution of the Slippery Rock is something which is now being taken up in a business like manner. Thomas Liggett of Pittsburgh is heading the movement which means action, and with him are the sportsmen of Lawrence county.

The Slippery Rock is the one clean stream of any beauty in this part of the state and there is no need of polluting it. Before the agitation is over it's a safe wager that there will be some sealing of abandoned coal mines back of the creek, and some precautionary measures in the ones that are operating. Putting sulphur water into the creek means extinction for the fish living there, and in addition makes swimming next to impossible.

Within the next few weeks the Slippery Rock valley from Harlansburg down to Ellwood will be worth a trip. The dogwoods will be turning wine color, the maples will be a blazing yellow, the sumac and the oaks will be rivaling the rainbow and the spruces will furnish the green background. It's worth your time any day you have time to drive out to any part of the Slippery Rock and see what Dame Nature can do when she isn't bothered.

STATE'S WARDS INCREASE
(International News Service)
HARTFORD, Conn.—One person out of every 147 residents in the state of Connecticut is under the care of the state in penal institutions, hospitals for the insane, or tuberculosis sanatoria. A 30 per cent increase in insane persons has occurred in two years, while the combined population of all state institutions has increased 23 per cent in the same period. Such are statistics issued by state officials here.

Professional musicians in Europe are facing the same unemployment conditions as those in America. Dean Marshall found, for example, that during afternoon concerts in the Luxembourg Gardens in Paris were being given by an orchestra of unemployed musicians, victims of the mechanical music.

Drew Resigns His Position On Bench In Superior Court

Judge James B. Drew Will Likely Qualify For Higher Court Monday

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25.—The governor's office today announced receipt of the resignation of Judge James B. Drew, Pittsburgh, as a member of the Superior Court. Judge Drew's commission as a justice of the state supreme court to which he was appointed by the governor and for which he is the Republican nominee was prepared immediately.

He is expected to qualify for the higher court on Monday, September 28.

Although promoted to the supreme court by the governor immediately after the death of Justice Sylvester B. Sadler early this year, Judge Drew did not resign until after he was assured of the Republican nomination. His appointed term will expire in January.

Autumnal Weather Is Being Enjoyed

Present Cold Spell Is Only Temporary, Mercury Starts To Climb

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 25—Present autumnal weather is only a lull in the heat wave which has gripped the Pittsburgh district during the past week and which is scheduled to return, the weather bureau announced today.

The mercury began an upward climb today but is due to be halted by impending thunder showers to-night and tomorrow.

Dean Marshall Talks Of Music, Drink In Europe

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 25—Outstanding topics of conversation in Europe are the possibility of Russia as a future world power, the financial crisis in England and the working of prohibition in America, according to Dean John Patten Marshall of Boston University college of music.

Dean Marshall has just returned from Lausanne, Switzerland
